GREEK ARMIES
AMERICAN AIDINCREASE IN U. S. A.
MILITARY MISSION
CONSIDERED

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
Washington, Oct. 29 (AP)—Government officials are considering an increase in the American military mission to Greece as a means of helping the Greek army prepare for a cleanup offensive against the Communist guerrilla forces.

Authorities said the present mission totaling 40 officers and men, now appears to be too small to do an adequate job. The mission's assignment has been to help the Greek forces assemble United States equipment being furnished them under the "Truman doctrine" aid program and to train the Greeks in the use of this equipment.

These authorities flatly denied, however, that there is any thought now of sending American troops to Greece or of having any American officers participate in Greek combat operations, as was reported from some European capitals last weekend.

The belief here is rather that an increase in the military mission would simply speed up the work already undertaken and give the Greeks a morale boost in launching the offensive, probably some time this winter.

Communists Too Strong
An offensive is considered essential to bring the guerrilla fighting under control and restore to Greece the minimum political stability which officials say is necessary to enable the nation to undertake an effective recovery program.

In a sense this estimate of the situation, which is now the prevalent official view, recognizes the failure of a theory, widely held here earlier in the year. That was that if a liberal Greek government could be persuaded to offer an amnesty to members of the guerrilla movement, the guerrilla forces would disintegrate and only the Communist core would remain.

However, persons most familiar with the situation in Greece now concede that the amnesty offered several weeks ago has not succeeded. The reason given is that the Communist discipline in the guerrilla forces is too strong.

Persons who otherwise might have availed themselves of the opportunity to return to territories under Greek government control were prevented from doing so by the knowledge that their own leaders would consider them as traitors and treat them accordingly.

This has led authorities here to decide that the only solution to the guerrilla problem is a military clean up. The amnesty offer expires November 15. Officials say frankly they believe the Greek armed forces which have shown including police could have shown a more offensive spirit than they have.

Prison Industries
Director Grilled On Surplus Cloth Deal

By JACK I. GREEN

Lansing, Oct. 29 (AP)—J. Fred Munnell, manager of the State Prison industries, submitting to cross-examination on his third day on the witness stand, contended today that the questioned sale of surplus cloth to government was a "mistake in judgment" and not one of favoritism.

The attorney general's office, asking the removal before Governor Sigler of Munnell and William H. Burke, assistant state prisons director, has accused Munnell of impropriety in the sale of 153,000 yards of surplus cloth to the inspector, Alfred S. Goldstein of New York.

Munnell told his attorney, Carl H. Smith of Bay City, that he received neither money, gifts or "winning and dining" from Goldstein.

"Why did you sell it to him?" Smith asked.

"Because we wanted to get rid of it," Munnell said.

He testified Goldstein paid the state regularly for his frequent small lot purchases of surplus, obsolete and defective products.

Attorney General Eugene F. Black and his two special assistants, Edmund R. Blaskie and Thomas R. McAllister attacked Munnell's arrangements with the Gunn Furniture Company of Grand Rapids and its affiliate, the Deane Engineering Division, to make shell cases during the war.

McAllister charged that the result of the arrangement was to make the Gunn firm a "shell case" from the state. Blaskie said the deal was "illegal" and had "regularities" in it.

Munnell testified that he entered ed into an agreement in 1943 with the Gunn firm to sub-contract shell case parts and continued until mid-1945, making 6,000,000 parts. He said the state made a net profit of $78,000 on a total production cost of $19,000.

The state attorneys criticized the fact that Munnell gave the Gunn firm a credit of $7,240 and reduced the price of the product sufficient to compensate the firm for payments for overtime to prison industries workers.

He asserted that the Gunn firm was being pressed by the Army Ordnance to speed up production, but that the prisons could not turn out more parts without paying overtime.

He said the prison industry had no funds to pay overtime and would have had to wait for the legislature to make an additional appropriation. So, he said, the Gunn firm advanced the money needed and was compensated by the $7,240 credit and the reduced price.

PRISON GUARDS
CALLED KILLERS

Georgia Negro Convicts
Afraid Of Snakes,
Claim 8 Slain

By PERRY MULLEN

Brunswick, Ga., Oct. 29 (AP)—Georgia prison guards, charged by Negro convicts with extreme brutality, were called into Federal Court today to hear additional testimony concerning the slaying of eight prisoners.

Half a dozen Negro serving sentences in the Glynn county convict camp have given their version of the mass slaying on July 11. Others are ready to be called today by federal prosecutors.

One of the government witnesses, James Maxwell, testified that after guards opened fire, felling several men, some of the guards went to men on the ground and shot them. Some had fallen wounded and others dropped to escape the shotgun blasts. Maxwell said he could not name the guards who fired at men on the ground.

Those who yesterday told the jury of alleged intimidation by a warden they said had been drinking. They said 27 prisoners refused to work on July 11 because they were afraid of snakes in a ditch they were clearing of weeds. The ditch was waist-high in water and mosquitos menaced any who entered without boots.

The prisoners said they asked for boots but were not supplied. Two or three snakes were killed in the ditch before they quit work.

Those who refused to continue with the work were returned to camp where the shooting followed.

Two More Writers
Cited For Contempt
In Movie Red Quiz

Washington, Oct. 29 (AP)—Two more screen figures were cited for contempt by a house un-American activities subcommittee today, raising to six the number now facing this accusation.

The committee acted against Samuel Ornitz, a writer, Herbert Biberman, a producer and director.

Called as witnesses in the committee's Red-in-Hollywood investigation, these figures refused to answer questions. They took the same stand four writers had taken earlier—that the committee had no right to inquire into their affiliations or political beliefs.

The eighth day of the committee's hearings was launched with a statement from Chairman Thomas (R-NJ) that it won't stop "until all the Communists in Hollywood are exposed," but immediately ran into difficulties.

PARTY HOPES TO WIPE OUT
1946 SETBACKDEMOCRATS SQUARE
AWAY FOR 1948
CAMPAIGN

By D. HAROLD OLIVER

Washington, Oct. 29 (AP)—Senator J. Howard McGrath of Rhode Island was unanimously elected today as the new chairman of the Democratic National committee. He succeeds Postmaster General Robert E. Hannegan who resigned the post because of ill health.

The committee, apparently bent on selecting Philadelphia for its 1948 National convention later in the day, received Hannegan's resignation with regret. Hannegan formally submitted the resignation, announced weeks ago, after virtually calling on President Truman to run for election in 1948 and attacking the Republican leadership in the last Congress.

McGrath, who will be 44 next month, is a former U. S. solicitor general and governor of his state. In accepting the post, he lauded Mr. Truman's work.

Two Cities Bidding
The choice of a new chairman and a site for the party's presidential nominating convention were the top items on the committee's list of business for the one-day meeting. Both Philadelphia and San Francisco are bidding for the convention, which probably will be held early in July.

The committee also is scheduled to act on recommendations of a subcommittee authorized by the last convention to consider a new plan for apportioning convention delegates. The subcommittee, headed by Frank M. McHale, Indiana committeeman, had agreed to recommend an increase—possibly from two to four—in the delegate bonus granted states which went Democratic in 1944.

McHale said this appeared to be the only way to give southern states, which vote democratic with almost clocklike regularity, some of the convention strength they claim to have lost when the two-thirds nominating rule was abolished in 1936.

Promoters Arrive
Party officers said Philadelphia appeared not only to have the most attractive offer in the way of expense money and publicity—including television—but many party members expressed belief that factional division of the party in California might be aggravated if the convention were taken there.

The 108-member national committee was due to decide the issue.

Retrial of Lifer
At Adrian Shifts
To Another County

Adrian, Mich., Oct. 29 (AP)—Circuit Judge Charles O. Arch ruled today to transfer the "quick justice" murder trial of 33-year-old Rene De Meerleer to another county.

He granted a change of venue late Friday after a vain attempt to impanel a jury in Lenawee county.

The court acted after the defense had entered five separate motions for a change of venue, contending an impartial trial of the celebrated case was impossible in Adrian.

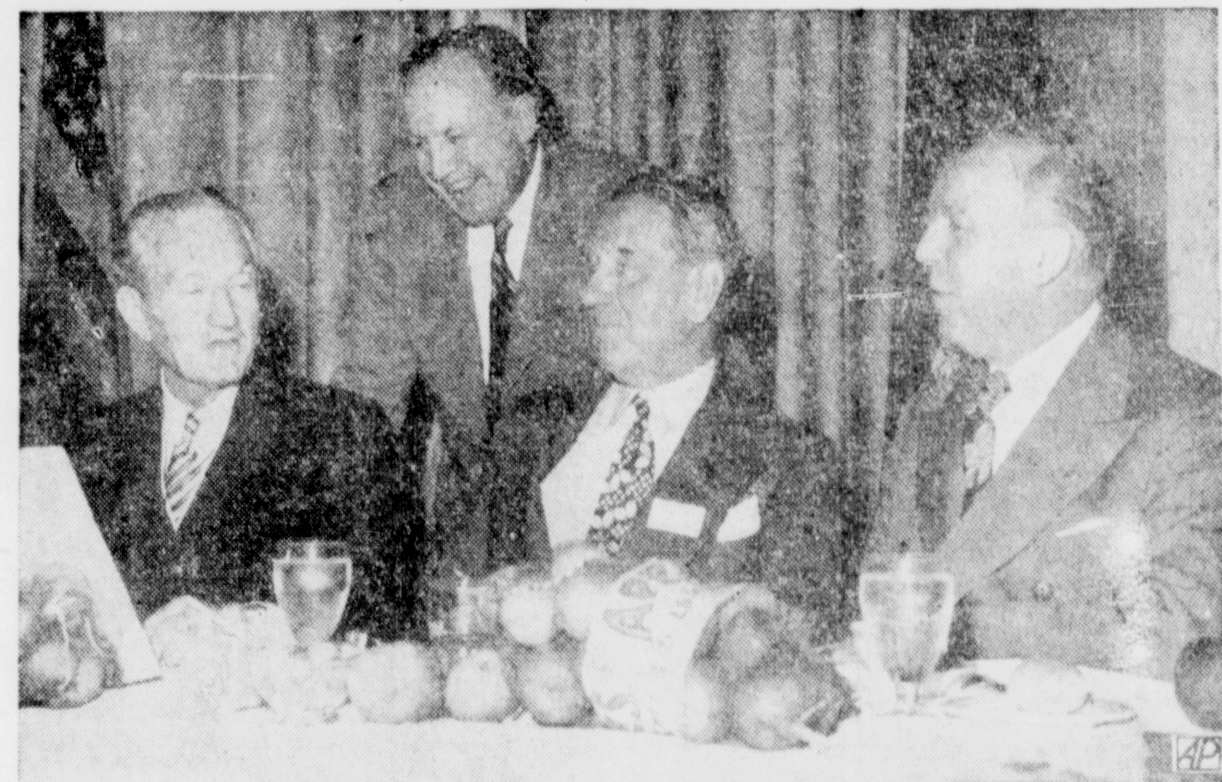

In five days beginning Oct. 21, Judge Arch was able to get only 11 tentative jurors from among a parade of 36 eligible persons.

De Meerleer, sentenced to life imprisonment in 1932 for the robbery-slaying of a gas station attendant, won a new trial when the United States supreme court questioned the speed of his original hearing and sentence and his lack of legal counsel at that time.

Handlers of Snakes
Appeal $100 Fines
In Kentucky Court
Harlan, Ky., Oct. 29 (AP)—The $100 fines imposed here on six of seven snake-handling Holiness church worshippers will be appealed, according to their attorney, L. C. Wall.

City Judge Lige Howard ordered the fines yesterday, but the charge against the seventh defendant, Reuben Napier of Cumberland, was dropped. The other defendants said Napier did not handle a serpent in a demonstration on the courthouses step last Sunday.

Those fined were identified by police records as O. V. Shupe, acknowledged leader of the cult in this area; Mrs. Flora Nolan, Mrs. Cinda Mays, Roscoe Long, Ed Miller and Paul Watkins, all of Cumberland.

Automobile Telephone Service Promised To Peninsula Next Year

Detroit, Oct. 29 (AP)—Motorists burning up the miles on US-10 between Detroit and Bay City may be able to telephone from their moving vehicles to homes and offices by early next year.

The Michigan Bell Telephone company announced today that installation of its first "highway service" mobile radio-telephone stations at Detroit, Flint and Saginaw was nearly complete, and added that it hoped to have the service in operation within a few months.

Introduced to this state at Detroit last year, mobile telephone service is getting its first use by carter agencies, ambulances, construction agencies, ambulances, taxis, newspaper press cars, public utilities, law enforcement agencies, doctors and delivery trucks.

In operation, it is an extension of regular land telephone service, via high-frequency radios equipped with suitable sending and receiving apparatus. Conversations travel part of the way by radio and part by telephone lines. Besides the stations along the Detroit-Bay City route, Michigan Bell announced that stations at Jackson, Kalamazoo, Lansing, Grand Rapids, Port Huron, and Sault Ste. Marie also are in advanced stages of construction. They will serve as links in the future mobile service systems, spokesmen said.

The company reported the Jackson and Kalamazoo stations would be part of a Detroit-to-Chicago route, while the Lansing and Grand Rapids posts would be links in a Detroit-to-Muskegon system. Port Huron will serve as the terminal for still another trip from Detroit.

Initially established to provide mobile service to local vehicles and ships passing through the St. Mary's Locks, the Sault station will be linked later with proposed stations at Escanaba, Marquette and Houghton, Michigan Bell said. Construction on the other northern Michigan depots was planned for 1948.

HEADS CRACKED
IN PARIS BRAWL

Reds Battle Police As Ramadier Regime
Fights For Life

Paris, Oct. 29 (AP)—Unofficial counts of the number injured in last night's bloody, head-cracking street fight between Communists and Paris police ranged today from 40 to 300.

The riotous street brawling, the first major political street battle in Paris since the bitter conflicts of 1936, occurred only a few hours after Premier Paul Ramadier opened his government's fight for life in the National Assembly, summoned into special session to deal with France's vexing political and economic problems.

Communists estimated to number about 35,000 responded to a call in their newspaper L'Humanite to break up an anti-Communist meeting in the Place D'Etoile, sponsored by former Senator Gustave Guathier.

They besieged the meeting place and broke through three police lines and a wooden barricade before police drove them off.

Estimates of the number injured ranged in the Paris press to as high as 150 on each side. An official police statement said eight officers had been hurt.

A number of photographers were injured in the melee, many of them being clouted by police. The assembly, which yesterday heard Ramadier attack both the Communists and Gen. Charles De Gaulle, was in recess until 3 p. m. (9 a. m., EST) tomorrow, when it was expected a vote of confidence would be taken.

Most observers thought Ramadier would be able to win by a small margin.

Japs Must Destroy
Machines Producing Combat Equipment

Tokyo, Oct. 29 (AP)—General MacArthur today ordered the Japanese to destroy all industrial machinery specifically designed to produce combat equipment, whether the machinery is privately or publicly owned.

Allied headquarters officials estimated that there are from 3,000 to 5,000 such machines, some of which had been listed for reparations.

DENMARK SLAPS
AT COMMUNISM

Reds Lose Nine Seats In Folketing As Result
Of Elections

By LASSE LEMKOW

Copenhagen, Denmark, Oct. 29 (AP)—Danish Communists lost nine of their 18 seats in the Folketing (lower chamber) in yesterday's parliamentary elections, final returns showed today, and were running sixth in a field of seven parties in the popular vote count.

The Social Democrats, which lean to the left of center, won 57 seats in the balloting, a gain of nine over what they won in the last election, on Oct. 30, 1945. The right of center Agrarian party of outgoing Premier Knud Kristensen made the greatest gain of any of the seven parties by winning 49 seats—11 more than in 1945.

Most observers attributed the Communist slip to two causes: (1) their recent demands for a purge of the Danish government, and (2) recent Communist moves in other European countries.

Members of the Folketing customarily are elected for four years, but yesterday's election was necessitated by the downfall of Kristensen's government on Oct. 4, after the Folketing voted no confidence in his coalition cabinet.

Ford Plants Lift
No-Smoking Edict
Effective Nov. 15

Detroit, Oct. 29 (AP)—A no-smoking edict, holdover from the days of the late Henry Ford, will be lifted for employees of the Ford Motor company Nov. 15, according to an announcement today by company President Henry Ford II.

The rule against smoking was relaxed last summer when the company permitted visitors to smoke in some of its offices, but this marks the first time employees will be permitted to smoke in the plants, providing they are not working in a fire hazard area.

Ford's announcement said at least two weeks would be needed to "post signs in dangerous zones, paint lines on the floors outlining these zones, distribute ash trays and receptacles, etc."

Families Go Along

New York, Oct. 29 (AP)—The housing shortage being what it is, 35 families living in an apartment house here will go along for a several day ride when the four-story building is moved soon to a new location.

The trip, with more than 1,000 steel rollers being used to shuttle the building across Van Wyck boulevard, has been approved by City Construction Coordinator Robert Moore.

One family, occupants of the basement apartment, won't make the trip, however. The basement is being left behind.

NATION FACES
SKIMPING TO
FEED EUROPEGRAIN-SAVING GOAL
MAY BE MET BY
END OF YEAR

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH

Washington, Oct. 29 (AP)—Republican Senator Buck said today restoration of wartime food rationing on a limited scale "might be feasible" in order to aid Europe.

The Delaware lawmaker turned thumbs down on return to any form of price control.

Buck is a member of the Senate Banking committee. This group and its house counterpart will consider the price-curtailing program which President Truman has announced he will lay before Congress at the special session opening November 17.

Mr. Truman has not disclosed details of the plan, but he recently termed rationing and price control the methods of a police state. He said they were necessary in war, but undesirable in peace.

Two Choices Offered
But Buck told a reporter: "I think rationing of certain consumer goods might be feasible if we are going to be able to help Europe. I have in mind such products as are in demand for export, among them some kinds of meat, as well as butter and lard and shortening."

The Delaware Republican said, too, that some sort of producer rationing should be set up for wheat, steel and perhaps lumber. "As I see it," Buck added, "we've got a choice of only two things. Either we must curtail our shipments abroad of food and other things, or we must find a way of taking the pressure from prices at home by a system of fair distribution of commodities in demand abroad."

Reminded that Chester Bowles, former OPA boss, recently told a congressional committee it would take at least six months to set up a rationing program, Buck said that makes no difference.

"We are contemplating long range aid to Europe under the Marshall plan. That means there probably still will be a lot of pressure six months from now. So there is time to set up a rationing program."

Big Job Ahead

Buck added that in the meantime there should be "a thorough-going educational program" on the reasons for rationing.

"The American people" haven't been sold on the need to deny themselves in order to send food abroad. There is a big job to be done on that score."

Food Conservation Chief, Charles Luckman echoed the view of the job ahead.

He said that "if the citizens food committee is to help the hungry people of Europe during the coming months" it must meet by January 1 the government's goal of saving 100,000,000 bushels of grain for shipment abroad.

While voicing belief that the deadline can be met, Luckman added that still new conservation measures may be required.

A committee spokesman emphasized that when Luckman told New York reporters of his confidence that the grain-saving target will be met by year's end, he did not mean to predict an end to meatless and poultryless days by

Apprentice Training For Building Trade Will Expand In U. P.

An expansion of apprentice training in the building trades in Upper Michigan is being planned by vocational training coordinators in several cities as the result of conferences with officials from the state department of public instruction and labor and contractors' representatives.

Possibilities of such expansion, as well as preparation for extending the program beyond the life of the GI bill, was explained at a meeting of Escanaba Local No. 34, Bricklayers, Masons and Plasterers International Union of America, at the North Star hall Tuesday evening. The speakers were Henry A. Reniger, president of the Michigan chapter of the Associated General Contractors of America, Inc.; John Lodge, international deputy and secretary of the Michigan BMPIU, and Sam Stoval, Detroit, representative of the U. S. apprenticeship training service.

Others attending the meeting included: Lester Hess, president, Escanaba Local 34; Norman Fenske, secretary; Elmer Burns, Muskegon, federal apprenticeship training service; Andrew Virtue, Lansing, building trades coordinator; Clarence Pearson, Escanaba, apprenticeship coordinator; John A. Lemmer, superintendent of schools; Gust Asp, Escanaba Chamber of Commerce Industrial Committee; Contractors Erling Arntzen, Alfred Brandt, Arthur Bolm, Escanaba, and William Nelson, Gladstone.

Much Building Ahead
Reniger is a member of the Reniger Brothers contracting firm of Lansing, which has the contract for the construction of several large buildings on the Michigan State College campus and other building projects in the state.

Explaining his mission to the Upper Peninsula was to explore the possibilities of expansion of training programs already started, as well as to assist contractors and vocational training coordinators, Reniger said:

"There is tremendous demand for erection of public and private buildings in Michigan, even excluding housing. It is estimated that it will require 10 years of steady work by all available persons and facilities before even the present demand is met and that doesn't include any subsequent building needs.

"There is, and has been, realization in the construction industry that the average age of journeymen in the building crafts is in the upper fifties and that unless steps are taken to recruit a substantial number of apprentices, there will be a serious shortage of skilled workers to carry on an accelerated postwar building program.

Shortage Of Bricklayers
"The old law of supply and demand still holds true. As voluntary retirement, advanced age and death removes skilled workers from the industry, they must be replaced by trained younger men."

"There are 4,464 apprentices in Michigan in such building trades as bricklaying, plastering, painting and decorating, plumbing, electrical, carpentry, cement finishing, lathing and sheet metal working."

"Bricklaying is the bottleneck in the Upper Peninsula," said Reniger after a tour of Upper Peninsula cities with Lodge, Stoval and John J. Harris, member of the vocational division of the department of public instruction. Harris accompanied the party to Sault Ste. Marie, Marquette, Ironwood, Iron Mountain, and Menominee, but was unable to come to Escanaba.

"The shortage of bricklayers, however, is general throughout the state. We now have 500 bricklayer apprentices in Michigan, but there should be 300 more."

Reniger added:

"In order for this training program to be successful, however, it must be looked at from an overall basis—that is, it must be coordinated on an area level. Proper direction at the local level is important, of course, but here in the Upper Peninsula we have an excellent opportunity to build up this program to much greater heights. Natives of the peninsula are of hardy stock who love their native land and want to find adequate employment here."

Plans for the local apprenticeship program will be discussed Saturday night at a meeting of the joint apprenticeship committee composed of the following: Erling Arntzen, president; Arthur Bolm, Alfred Brandt, Charles Olson, Helmer Nelson and Harry Vandacker, secretary.

COURT DIRECTS JURY VERDICT

Finds That Defendant Is Unlawfully Holding Estate Property

In a verdict directed by Judge Frank A. Bel, a circuit court jury Tuesday afternoon found for the plaintiff, Jacob H. Casper, in his suit for an order ejecting Doris Ralph from real estate in the village of Garden claimed as a part of the estate of Kolman Casper, deceased, brother of the plaintiff.

The court directed that the jury find "the defendant guilty of unlawfully withholding from the plaintiff the premises described in the declaration."

Kolman Casper died Sept. 18, 1941, and his brother, Jacob, plaintiff in the suit, was named administrator of the estate.

As administrator Jacob Casper brought suit against Doris Ralph seeking to eject her from the real estate in Garden, and asking possession of the property and $500 damages.

While the directed verdict cited that the property was unlawfully held by Doris Ralph, it did not assess any damages as sought by the plaintiff.

The jury was dismissed at the conclusion of the case and no other jury cases are scheduled for this term, which is expected to conclude Friday. Several chancery matters, including divorce actions, are scheduled for hearing by the court.

Judge Bell will open the November term of circuit court in Menominee county on Monday, Nov. 3.

COLLECTIONS REACH $6,650

First Returns Reported
In Community Chest
Campaign

First returns from solicitors in the Delta County Community Chest campaign indicate that about $6,650 has been collected to date, or slightly over one-third of the quota of $18,000, headquarters of the drive reported this morning.

The compilations are based on scattered reports of solicitors and do not represent all of the funds that may be in the hands of the solicitors at this time, it was emphasized. In general the total does not include returns from the industrial concerns which annually are among the largest contributors.

The figures show $1150 collected in the townships of a quota of $3,000, $1900 in Gladstone of a quota of $4,000 and $3600 in Escanaba, which has a quota of $11,000.

More definite figures will be available at campaign headquarters in several more days.

Campaign officials reported that the tentative figures on collections thus far indicate that solicitors will have to spur their work in order to attain the $18,000 goal, but declared that the compilation indicates that the goal is within reach.

Over 5,000 Students At U. P. Parochial Schools

Marquette—A report made this week by Msgr. Frederick G. Hochwalt, general secretary of the National Catholic Education Association, indicates that there has been a 50% increase in the enrollment of pupils in the Catholic schools of the nation over a 25 year period. A check of the Official Catholic Directory for the year 1947 reveals that in the Diocese of Marquette, comprising the whole of Upper Michigan, seven high schools, twenty grade schools and eleven catechetical schools are being maintained by the Catholics of the peninsula.

High Schools
The High Schools listed are attached to St. Peter's Cathedral Marquette; St. Ambrose, Ironwood; St. Paul, Negaunee; St. Joseph, Escanaba; Sacred Heart, Laurium; St. Mary's, Sault and the Ursuline Academy, St. Ignace.

Grade Schools
Grade schools are located at Assinins, Bessemer, Escanaba (2), Gladstone, Hancock, Houghton, Ironwood, Ishpeming, Laurium, Marquette, Marquette (4), Menominee (2), Munising, Negaunee and the Sault.

Previously it was erroneously reported that Holy Rosary and St. Joseph Schools, Lake Linden, St. Cecilia's, Hubbard, and the Ursuline Grade school, St. Ignace were parochial schools. For the past few years these schools have been operated by the public school system of their communities. The Sisters teaching in these schools and the curriculum of studies is that of the Public School system.

Catechetical Schools
Eleven catechetical schools with resident Sisters are established in the Diocese. These schools provide regular religious instruction for the children of the parish and offer musical instruction privileges. The first such school was established at St. Mary's, Wakefield. The most recent additions are at St. Agnes, Iron River and St. John the Baptist, Garden St. Patrick's, Escanaba; Immaculate Conception and St. Mary and Joseph, Iron Mountain; Holy Trinity, Ironwood; American Martyrs, Wakefield; Sacred Heart, L'Anse; St. Gregory's, Newberry, and Holy Family, Ontonagon.

Religious Represented
Ten religious institutions for women are represented in the Diocese. The Sisters of St. Joseph, Grandet Province, teach at Baraga and St. Michael's, Marquette; St. Paul's, Negaunee; St. John's, Ishpeming; St. Joseph's, Hancock; American Martyrs, Kingsford, and Sacred Heart, L'Anse. Franciscan Sisters of Christian Charity are at St. Ambrose, Ironwood; St. Ann's, Escanaba; St. Francis de Sales, Manistique; St. John's, Marquette; St. John's and St. Ann's, Menominee. Sisters of Notre Dame teach at St. Joseph's, Escanaba; Sacred Heart, Laurium; St. Sebastian's, Bessemer and Holy Family, Ontonagon. At St. Joseph Orphanage, Assinins, and Holy Family Orphanage Home, Marquette, the Sisters of St. Agnes are in charge. They also operate St. Ignatius School, Houghton. The Ladies of Loretto operate Loretto High and St. Mary's school in the Sault, At St. Ignace the Academy, for High school

NEW INDUSTRY IS DISCUSSED

Representatives Of U. P. Communities Meet In Escanaba

How to wisely use community surveys in launching new industries on the local level or attracting outside concerns to locate plants in the Upper Peninsula was discussed at a meeting held at the Sherman hotel today. George E. Bishop, secretary-manager of the Upper Peninsula Development Bureau, sponsor of the series of industrial conferences in the region, presided at the session. Chief speakers at the morning and noon sessions were Ben F. Clark, U. P. field representative of the newly-created Michigan Economic Development commission; Frederic W. Olmstead, Washington, D. C., industrial development division, U. S. Department of Commerce; and Fred Petrie, Detroit, U. S. Department of Commerce.

Representatives of railroads, chambers of commerce, and governmental agencies in the area were in attendance. They included: Sven A. Eklund, O. E. Stolen, Spencer Heiden, Ishpeming; Donald B. Smith, George Newton, Iron Mountain; A. A. Wells, Ralph; Clarence A. Erickson, Norway; John Brisson, L. D. Randall, Howard Vielmetti, Norway; Dudley Jewell, Gust Asp, Escanaba; A. J. Jacobson, Marquette; Ray Laufenberg, Menominee; B. H. Devoe, Dr. F. K. Hansen, Marquette; S. R. Venne, Wm. L. Marble, Charles Burton, A. C. Peterson, and Webster L. Marble, Gladstone; B. M. Howe, Charles Folio, Escanaba; John M. Bush, Negaunee; G. M. Briere, Chicago; G. E. Hittel, Milwaukee. Mr. Clark reported that 34 surveys, affecting 49 communities in the Upper Peninsula, have been undertaken. Thus far, 25 surveys have been completed, and five will be submitted to him in the near future. Mr. Clark offered some suggestions for making a more detailed listing of industrial advantages of a community. He said that all the surveys would be digested for an Upper Peninsula brochure to be used in attracting new industries.

Mr. Petrie announced that the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce has been designated as a cooperating office of the U. S. Department of Commerce, and that business men will be able to obtain bulletins and pamphlets issued by the government at the local C. of C. headquarters. He invited the public to contact the Detroit office of the department for any information relating to business and industrial problems.

Mr. Olmstead discussed the new department of commerce treatise on "Basic Industrial Location Factors," and told how it can be used in making industrial surveys and getting new industries.

U. S. A.—A Fascist State?

THE Veterans Administration has just issued a directive which classifies as confidential and therefore unauthorized for disclosure any information which would be prejudicial to the interests or prestige of the nation, any governmental activity, or an individual, or would cause administrative embarrassment or difficulty.

This directive, mind you, is issued in the United States, where democracy is supposed to function on the principle of an enlightened citizenry. It is a pernicious gag rule wider in scope than any security rule ever adopted in this country, even in wartime. Under this rule every VA official could cover up the most flagrant evidences of bungling and mismanagement.

The VA directive was issued on the advice of the security advisory board of the state, war and navy department co-ordinating committee and evidently it is to be used as the pattern for all other federal agencies—unless the American people stand up now and assert their rights to halt this foolishness.

This regulation is proposed in the interests of national security, but significantly it goes far beyond the bounds of security. It embraces anything that an administrative official desires to hide. Merely by labelling such information "confidential," an administrative official could shield himself from public criticism.

The directive issued by the Veterans Administration is the basic violation of public respect that has come out of Washington in many years, worse even than some of the directives issued during the balmy days of the New Deal.

If the time has come when our public officials have lost sight of the fact that they are the servants and not the masters of the people, then we are headed for a fascist state as brutal as anything the Nazis ever conceived.

If we are going to sit back meekly and let the bureaucrats get away with this rape of the inherent rights of the American people, then everything that this country has stood for since the founding of our republic is headed for the ashheap.

Raise For State Employees

ACTION by the state civil service commission in voting to raise the salaries of 20,000 state employees between $20 and $40 per month effective January 1 makes the special session of the legislature Nov. 5 seem rather silly. Gov. Sigler has called the legislature into session for the expressed purpose of considering pay raises for state employees.

Inasmuch as the pay raises voted by the civil service commission will not become effective until January 1, it seems that the commission acted rather hastily and with apparent intent to beat the legislature to the draw.

All that is left now for the legislature to do in its special session Nov. 5 is to say, "Amen" and to discuss ways and means of financing the boost. This could be done just as effectively when the legislature reconvenes for the special session in January.

This latest action, however, does serve to emphasize the ridiculousness of a situation in which one state agency has the complete authority to set wage rates and personnel limits while another has the sole responsibility for raising the money.

A Welcome Rain

SOAKING RAINS of the past few days have squelched the forest fire hazard in the Upper Peninsula for the time being, at least, and both the fire fighters and the general public can look back upon the most extreme fire situation in the area of the past 10 years and take pride in a job well done.

Considering the seriousness of the forest fire situation in the Upper Peninsula of the past three weeks, with practically the entire forest acreage tinder dry and ready to explode with the dropping of a spark, we have kept our forest losses relatively low. Public cooperation on one hand and an alert fire fighting organization on the other have combined to do an excellent service at a time of extreme emergency.

In contrast to our own meager losses, Maine has suffered its most devastating losses due to forest fires in many years during the past three weeks. Over 100,000 acres of timberland have been destroyed together with many homes and 13 lives were taken by the forest fires in Maine. Property damage alone has been estimated at $30,000,000 in this one state.

It is still too early to state that all our worries are behind us. A few more days of warm weather will reinstate the hazard but at the moment the situation is well in hand, thanks to the general rains of the past few days. The emergency situation that existed this fall did serve to emphasize one point that deserves mention. The people of the Upper Peninsula of Michigan are more conscious of the value of their timberlands than ever before in our history. It shows that the educational work that has been done along this line in recent years is beginning to pay big dividends.

Meat Prices Drop

PORK AND HAM prices dropped sharply on the Milwaukee retail market over the past weekend and the American Meat Institute has reported sharp breaks in meat prices at the wholesale level.

The drop in meat prices, relatively small at present, is expected to be more pronounced in the weeks ahead. The American Meat Institute reported that a major factor in the decline is the seasonal increase in production as cattle raisers moved their animals to market in greater volume rather than carry them over the winter at current high prices of feed.

Undoubtedly this is one important factor, but there are others. The government's campaign of voluntary rationing embodied in the meatless Tuesday idea and the program to discourage the feeding of grain to livestock in order to provide more grain for export shipment are also important factors. Still another is the impending special session of Congress which has been called for the purpose of coping with high living costs as well as emergency aid to Europe.

Certainly one reason for a drop in demand for meat is the prevailing level of prices. With pork chops at 85c and sliced ham at $1.15, it is not surprising that some retailers are finding it just a little difficult to move these items from their counters.

At least, there is cause for encouragement in the present trend of meat prices.

Other Editorial Comments

THE PRESIDENT ON RATIONING

(Milwaukee Journal)

President Truman, discussing rationing and price controls at a press conference, was right in saying that these devices should be resorted to in a democracy only when absolutely necessary.

The president was, however, decidedly wrong in saying that such controls are "police state" measures. No measure voted into effect by the duly elected representatives of the people and enforced by agents responsible to those same elected representatives, no matter how restrictive it may be, is comparable to the arbitrarily adopted regulation of a dictator state.

During the war, practically all the democracies used rationing and price controls. They used them as necessary curbs in a period of serious shortages. When the war approached an end, these controls were removed—prematurely in many cases—because the people would no longer support them, or because it was fancied by those in office that they would not.

In a police state, the will of the people is secondary, because the power of the people has been usurped. The president's careless statement, ignoring these facts, was inexcusable.

It's a fine idea to stop buying things you can't afford, but who wants to quit eating?

We don't care how many politicians throw their hats into the ring just so they stop talking through them.

Take My Word For It . . . Frank Colby

Lowell Thomas

Voice, baritone of good quality and expressiveness. It is nicely pitched, flexible, and well modulated. It is a voice that is on good terms with the microphone.

Enunciation, very clear and understandable, but naturally so. That is to say, Thomas's long years on the air have made good enunciation automatic, effortless, and devoid of the elocution-school prettiness which so often mars the work of those broadcasters who listen to themselves speak.

Style. Standard American. Thomas does not orate, nor do his commentaries appear to be slanted. He reads well, and, as good reporters should, he avoids theatrics and editorial fervor. His manner of speaking is intimate, conversational, and friendly, but not obtrusive.

It may be well to repeat what I have pointed out previously, that the broadcaster's most valuable asset is the ability to speak to the single radio listener, rather than to a mass audience. I, for one, dislike very much to have a commentator come into the quietness of my home and harangue me as if I were five thousand members of the Teamsters' Union, or to climb into my lap and breathe damp sobs down my neck while assuring me bravely that "there's good news tonight."

Pronunciation, very good, and very bad. First, the very good: Thomas's English pronunciations are accurate. On the broadcast checked for this Portrait there was but one mispronunciation—the "z" sound in the word resources. The correct pronunciation is: ree-SORE-sez, not "ree-ZAWR-sez." Presentation was pronounced "PRE-en-TAY-shun," which is not a mispronunciation; but it is obsolescent, best usage being: PREZ-en-TAY-shun.

The very bad? Well, Lowell Thomas has a positive genius for mispronouncing foreign words and names, especially French. He says "muh-SHOO" for monsieur, "WAH-luh" for valet (correct: vva-LAH), "VEE-yuh luh France" for vive (pronounced: veev) la France; "ruh-MAH-dee-

World Events Analyzed

BY MARQUIS CHILDS

Stoke-on-Trent, England.—Here, where the smoke from the collieries and the pottery works smudges the sky, is the front line in the new battle for Britain. It is just as real a battle as the one seven years ago when the Nazis were repulsed in the air and the world knew that Britain would stand.

On the outcome depends the future of this country which for more than a century held economic and military domination over wide areas of the earth. The new battle of Britain is for more coal, more steel, more exports.

But because the enemy is in this instance a future threat—of decline, decay, a kind of slow death—it is difficult to inspire the front-line fighters with a sense of urgency. Ancient habits are hard to change. The pictures in peoples' minds—the way they look at the world—persist long after events have radically changed the environment.

—WELL-OPERATED MINE—

The Chatterly-Whitfield colliery here is a well-run mine. Before it was nationalized a year ago, along with all other coal mines, it was a profitable property. The private owners, unlike many others, had put back sufficient capital to modernize the pits and keep the operation at a high level of productivity.

You'd look a long time before you would find an abler and more energetic man than Ernest Cope, the manager. Cope, who began as a pit boy at the age of 12, was manager of Chatterly-Whitfield before nationalization. When the national coal board took over all the mines last Jan. 1, he was given charge of two additional collieries in the vicinity. He works intensely hard and it is obvious that he has the confidence of the men. Most of the 3,000 miners at Chatterly-Whitfield he knows by their first name.

—ABSENTEEISM IS PROBLEM—

Yet in spite of this favorable combination, 50 per cent of the miners fail to report for work on Mondays. Absenteeism through the week averages about 25 per cent. If the force now in the mine could be got to work the full five-day week, or the new six-day week that begins Nov. 1, the quota of coal for this pit, and more, would come out of the ground. And that goes for most of Britain's mines.

The reason why the men do not work longer are many. They derive from a complex set of habits, from the ordeal of the war and from the swift currents of social change that are everywhere in motion. Any easy explanation such as the coming of socialism may serve a political end, but it is not a valid explanation.

Cope believes the chief reason for the high rate of absenteeism is the fact that the men can buy very little that they want with the money they make. In his strong North Staffordshire accent he says:

"You put 2,000 fur coats in the stores here and you sell 'em for a 100 quid ($400) apiece and you bring in some nylon stockings—then the men will work. The wife'll sign up to buy a coat and they'll have to pay for it."

The government has made every effort to give mining communities first claim on the consumers' goods that are available. The shops seem to be fairly well stocked. But the men out of the pits, who earn their money the hard way, feel that post-war prices are too high and quality too low.

—HAVE SURPLUS MONEY—

They have money over and above the cost of the rationed goods they buy—more money than they've ever had before. They can buy beer with it. Or they can bet on the races and play the football pools. But the most precious commodity they can buy is leisure, and that is what they're having in spite of all the exhortations to work harder and save Europe.

Still another factor is the pay as you earn income tax. It cuts deep into the money the miners make on the fifth day of the week, which is perhaps the chief reason why absenteeism is so high on Mondays.

Then there is the strong persuasion of habit. In summer the miners have customarily taken two or three days a week to go into the country with their families and pick hops or fruits. They had an outing and they made a bit of money.

Last summer was the sunniest and the warmest in the memory of man. The autumn has been exceptionally mild. The weather was an added inducement to go out into the country, especially when farmers were paying $3 or $4 a day for helpers in the potato fields.

In the old days, and particularly during the long depression, it didn't matter if in the summer months the pits ran on part time. The sun and air were healthy for men living underground so much of their lives. The change was part of the leisurely cycle of English life. But it matters today. It matters desperately whether more coal comes out of the pits, for coal is the ammunition in this new battle for Britain.

For Ramadier (correct: ra-ma-DYAY, the first two "a's" flat, and the accent on the last syllable), etc. Thomas's absurd foreignisms spoil an otherwise good performance.

Score: Voice, 23. Enunciation, 24; style, 25; pronunciation, 5. Total, 77. Rating, very good.

Do you use was instead of were with the proper usage of was and were in his YOU, WE, and THEY? Mr. Colby explains leaflet, C-7.

Good Evening

By Clint Dunathan

GRAND OLD MAN—It was our pleasure recently to meet Joseph Clifton, 82 years old, of Everett, Wash. He and his sisters, Emily and Susan, are visiting their brother, William Clifton, 85, at Fayette.

Dunathan

They expect to return about mid-November to their home in Washington, where they have lived since 1910. "Uncle Joe" Clifton is a rugged man with an infectious sense of humor and a good memory of the early days in Fayette, where the Clifton family settled in 1872 after moving from Canada. His father, who began farming near Fayette in 1876, after four years operating a boarding house, Charles Clifton was encouraged to farming at Fayette by the Jackson Iron company. There were lots of furnace men, woodsmen and iron ore handlers, but good farmers were scarce in the 1870's.

DAY OF THE OXEN—At the age of 16 Joe Clifton was driving a team of oxen for Van Winkle, the big lumber operator of early Garden Peninsula days for whom Van's Harbor is named.

"Oxen will pull a horse right off its feet," Clifton said. "They were slow but sure-footed, stolid but strong. They were used almost entirely when lumbering first got under way, and the man who was good at handling a team of oxen never wanted for work." The making of yokes for the teams of oxen was tricky business, for unless the yokes were well fitted the animals could not pull well. An ill-fitting yoke would also make their shoulders sore. It was Joe Clifton's boast that "I never had an ox with a sore shoulder from any yoke I made."

BEAST OF BURDEN—The ox was gradually relegated to second place by the horse as a beast of burden in the woods and in early-day industry. Then came the truck and the tractor, growing bigger and more powerful, doing more and faster work than the horse.

"It was a good thing," Joe Clifton said reflectively. "The horses, how they pulled and strained. People were not mean but work had to be done and the horse had to do it. It is a good thing now that they have tractors."

FOUND OLD YOKE—When the Clifton family came to Fayette, the year was 1872 and Joe, ete, seven years old. The elder Clifton operated a boarding house in Fayette for four years and then moved his family to a farm a couple miles north of the village, going back to a profession he knew and loved in Canada. He was encouraged in this return to the soil by the Jackson Iron company, the owner and operator of the site and the industry of Fayette.

The Cliftons were industrious and good farmers. They built barns and a house, cleared the land and tilled it successfully for 34 years. The rugged limestone foundations of their farm buildings are mute evidence that they had built well—a family that was among the first to take voluntarily to farming in Delta county. They were the forerunners of the thousands of families now employed in the agricultural industry of the county.

It was on the William Clifton farm recently that Joe Clifton discovered an ox yoke that had

Into the Past

Ten Years Ago

Escanaba—Eddie Marie Voght, daughter of Kenneth Voght, has been elected to the dramatics club of Quachita college in Arkadelphia, Ark., where she is a freshman.

Curtis—Mrs. George Hamecker and baby daughter returned from the Newberry hospital and both are in fine condition.

Gladstone—Gladstone high school has become a member of the Michigan High School Forensic association and will compete in state-wide debate contests offered under it.

Manistique—Miss Louise Bolitho has returned to Ann Arbor where she is a student of the University of Michigan.

Twenty Years Ago

Escanaba—Mrs. Florence Dube and Mrs. William Ranguette, left Friday for Montreal, Canada, where they will make their home. Mrs. Dube was honored with a farewell party at her home recently.

Manistique—Friends and neighbors called all day Thursday with gifts to honor Mr. and Mrs. Fred Scott on their 50th wedding anniversary. Mr. Scott has lived in Manistique since 1877 and at present the Scotts are residing in the building which was the first schoolhouse in Manistique.

been used on his father's farm more than a half century ago. He found it in a shed under a carpenter's bench. Only the upper part was left and that was riddled with worm holes. Joe said that he planned to bend some new pieces to restore the yoke and would keep it as a souvenir.

TO NEW COUNTRY—In 1910 that the family moved to the state of Washington. "Father got restless and wanted to get in to more of a pioneer country," Joe Clifton recalled.

A DYING TOWN—It was sometime shortly before the turn of the century that Fayette received its death blow. And it was a blow. "The furnace blew up," is the way Joe Clifton describes the hardening within the furnace of the molten iron. To resume operations would have meant tearing the furnace down stone by stone, brick by brick, and rebuilding it.

Joe Clifton scouts the oft-repeated theory that the furnace closed because all of the hardwood had been cut off and there was no more hardwood for charcoal. There was lots of hardwood timber left in the area 50 years ago, he said.

When the furnace grew cold the heart of Fayette stopped beating. For several years a number of families stayed there. Some turned to farming. Many of the dwellings were torn down, including all of those on Cedar avenue—a street built on a ledge of limestone south of the town.

For more than 30 years Fayette was a bustling boom town. For the past 47 years it has grown in importance as a recreation site and may boom again as a resort town.

Rochester, N. Y. (AP)—Teen-age kids have their own night club here—a modern fun spot run by themselves where soft drinks replace highballs.

They call it "the barn," and it's a big glossy redesigned Quonset hut structure with all the interior trimmings of a Manhattan night club.

This unique experiment in recreation for high school children, praised by religious organizations and civic clubs here, originated with a mother who sent a $250 check to Publisher Frank Gannett in a letter asking: "Why isn't there a place for our children to go and have a good time without drinking?"

Hal Boyle

Gannett investigated and found that problem was worrying many parents who didn't want their children exposed to adult temptations.

Then I made a check to find out what the children themselves wanted most in the way of entertainment," said the 71-year-old publisher. "They said they wanted a place with a night club atmosphere—dancing, food and good music—but without liquor."

"The barn" was the outcome. Monroe county officials donated the use of county land on a hill outside the city. Gannett put $40,000 to erect "the barn."

It has a soft drink bar with low-priced food, tables, a band platform with microphone and a dance floor that any metropolitan night club might envy.

On opening night last May 16th it was jammed, and it has drawn capacity crowds of 500 to 600 teen-agers ever since. A terrace is now being added.

Kids Run "The Barn"

Gannett decided at the start that it was up to the kids themselves to operate the club.

"It wouldn't have worked out if it had been imposed upon them and grownups tried to run it," he said.

"The barn" is governed by the board of the Gannett youth club, made up of a representative from each of thirty public and parochial high schools in the Rochester area. Executives of two Rochester newspapers act as advisors, but the teen-age board members make and enforce the rules.

The board voted that no stags would be allowed and set the price at a dollar couple. Dances are held each Friday and Saturday evening, from 9:15 to 12:30 a. m.

The kids put on their own shows. Each week a different high school trots out its best talent in the way of singers, specialty dancers, magicians and choral groups. Any youthful Fred Astaire or potential Bing Crosby has his chance before an audience of his own age.

The club is completely free from vandalism. Wooden fence posts rimming the dance floor were put there to give an outlet for the eternal high school urge to carve initials. The fence saves the tables.

"There has been no misbehavior of any kind," said Gannett. "The club isn't an agency for the reformation of juvenile delinquents. It was set up primarily to provide a wholesome place of play free from liquor and poor surroundings. High school children in every city need such places."

He'd like to see the idea spread.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON

Washington.—When President Truman called in Capitol Hill leaders to explain his decision to summon a special session of Congress, one of his arguments was supplied by a commerce department chart. It showed trends of prices and exports in recent months.

Giving his "classroom" of senators and congressmen a lecture on living costs, he pointed to the "price line." It disappeared at the top of the chart. Meanwhile exports showed a definite decline.

"A lot of people believe that the less we ship abroad for relief, the lower prices will be at home," the president commented as he passed the chart over to Senator Taft. "However, the opposite is now true, as you can see. Our exports have actually gone down in the last several months, yet domestic prices have increased."

"I suggest, Mr. President," interrupted Taft, "that you give us comparable figures on the increase in wages."

The president replied that wages are lagging behind, a statement that Taft promptly challenged with some figures of his own.

Truman then went on to point out that increased prices were solely responsible for the increased cost of relief to Europe. The original estimate of funds needed to carry needy Europeans through March 31, 1948, was $580,000,000, the president explained. Now it is $642,000,000 and, he added grimly, it may go higher unless Congress does something about prices.

"We've got to remember that the higher prices go, the greater our relief costs are going to be," he said.

House G. O. P. Majority Leader Charles Halleck inquired as to just what the president wanted Congress to do about prices. He said that Congress never would approve restoration of price controls and that if this issue took priority over relief appropriations at the special session, Congress might argue all winter before any funds were voted for Europe's starving.

Truman replied that he had no intention of asking Congress to restore general price controls, partly because it would cost too much to set up the necessary administrative machinery; also, it would take too long to get the program under way, even if Congress gave its approval.

Allocation of key materials, greater export-import controls, and price ceilings on certain key commodities (at the producer instead of the consumer level) were some of the things he had in mind, Truman revealed. However, he did not clarify what materials should be allocated or what effect allocations would have on the overall price picture.

All these questions would be answered at his next meeting with the congressional leaders, the president promised, at which time he would have a specific program to recommend to Congress.

—NO SIGHTSEEING CONGRESSMEN—

G. O. P. Congressman August Andresen of Red Wing, Minn., in charge of an agriculture sub-committee touring Italy, gave strict orders to his fellow congressmen against sightseeing. On the way to Rome, however, they were blown to Nice by a hurricane and forced to make an emergency landing in a 60-mile crosswind. Next day, they made another start. Again the weather was too turbulent over Rome, so they nosed toward Pisa and circled over the city.

Peering out the window, Congressman Harold Cooley, North Carolina Democrat, pointed excitedly.

"What's the leaning tower of Pisa?" "There do you think we are doing," snapped Andresen, "sightseeing?"

-2 CONVENTIONS AT PHILADELPHIA-

Some highly interesting by-play took place behind the scenes in high Democratic circles before the Democratic national committee met today to select the city for the national convention.

Both President Truman and Postmaster General Hannegan strongly favored San Francisco. Hannegan went even further and suggested Oakland and San Francisco as joint sponsors for the convention.

However, the hotel men at San Francisco turned thumbs down. Overcrowded, they actually discouraged the Democratic delegates. Jimmy Roosevelt and Ed Pauley, meanwhile, urged Los Angeles. In fact, that has been about the only thing they've agreed on lately. But they wanted to hold the meeting outdoors in the Coliseum, and Democratic bigwigs in Washington were afraid both of the weather and the idea that the Coliseum might be picketed by Henry Wallaceites.

Meanwhile, Philadelphia came forward with some attractive offers. Holding the Democratic convention in the same hall right after the Republicans, they pointed out, would cut down expenses. Hannegan, however, was still skeptical. He figured that with the Democrats sure to nominate Truman, the convention would be minus fireworks, suspense, and drama. Also he was afraid that, in steaming hot weather, too many delegates would be off to Atlantic City and television would show up the empty seats in the convention hall.

However, inertia in the far west, plus the fact that Senator Howard McGrath of Rhode Island, new Democratic chairman, favored Philadelphia, means that the City of Brotherly Love will get two political conventions next summer.

Sam's a Matrimony Expert

Sam Abernathy never intended to be a matrimony expert, but he hit the nail on the head the other day when he said:

"What marriage really needs is more open minds and a lot fewer open mouths."

Sam may not think much of his missus' choice of hats or her habit of serving watercress and cream cheese salad. But he keeps his mouth shut (I mean, he just uses it to eat the salad). And the missus never criticizes Sam's affection for that worn-out chair before the fire.

and his mellow glass of beer and pipe at the end of a long day.

From where I sit, that prescription would apply to most human relationships. Criticism rarely rouses anything but resentment. But an open mind—whether it's applied to a woman's choice of hats, or a husband's preference for a pipe and a moderate glass of beer or two—leads to the conclusion that there's right on both sides.

Kenneth Carlson Aboard Submarine

Kenneth R. Carlson, motor machinist's mate, first class, of Route 1, Escanaba, is serving aboard the submarine USS Chivo, which recently rescued six survivors of an Army C-54 transport plane after making an all-out, 28-hour dash to reach them in waters off the Carolina Islands.

The Chivo began its four-month cruise in Pacific Ocean areas from San Diego in August. When she crossed the equator in September, all her hapless "pollywogs" were initiated into the Royal Order of the Deep.

Its cruise almost completed, the Chivo was scheduled to leave Guam, Marianas Islands, Nov. 1 on the return trip to San Diego via Japan and Pearl Harbor.

HE'S SORRY FOR PRINCE PHILIP

Ruark Offers Sympathy To One Leaving Bachelorhood

BY ROBERT C. RUARK
New York—Since this is the week set aside for compassion, I should like to extend a sympathetic hand to Phil the Greek, as he is called by his intimates in England. There is one young guy who is starting out with more matrimonial liabilities than any groom in the history of the Lohengrin production.

Ruark

He's got a nice gal, but she's strong-minded, and she will rule over the checkbook, in actuality, and on top of that they got to live with the old folks and Liz will eventually wear the pants and I doubt if you can talk sharp to or maybe slug a queen empress for cooing the wrong note in the dove-cote. It won't be too long after the honeymoon that Phil's old lady will be turning up mad as a wet hen over what some heel in Commons said and all he'll have to counter with is his trying experience that day with the head gamekeeper. She will be impatient and say if he really loved her he'd go out and punch the member from Marylebone in the snoot, and that will lead nowhere because under a Socialist government the prince consort can't go around sloughing the subjects, because after what they are doing to the House of Lords it is not inconceivable that some day they will pass a bill making kings and queens illegal.

No More Staying Out
Philip used to be a great hand for hanging around the pubs, singing four-letter chants with his shipmates in the Royal Navy, but I guess that's out now, too. Let him wobble in too late for the state function some night, singing "Blow the Man Down," and he gets unregally crowned with whatever scepter she can lay hand to.

The Royal Navy is a fine service but I guess Phil will have to be right careful about what cronies he fetches home for a little snort and a snack, because the old lady will have things on her mind pretty steady and you know how it is when the old lady has things on her mind.

There are two problems Phil won't have to cope with. Won't be any of this strife about: "Well, your family does so-and-so," or "my family never did such-and-such," because they got roughly the same family. It is awful hard to knock an in-law when the in-laws are as mixed up as their'n and royal to boot.

Kids' Names Pose Problem
The other thing is naming the kids. There aren't but so many names you can hang on the children, like George and Edward and Philip and Mary and Alexandra and Victoria and Albert. It is a merely a matter of flipping a florin to see which one you pick first.

I do not know what the protocol is when the Empress-Elect has the morning miseries or is expressing a keen desire for sour pickles and chow-mein at 3 a. m. so I will not attempt to advise the young man on that one. For all I know they have a Lord Chamberlain in charge of going to Soho at 3 a. m. for sour pickles and chow mein.

How much leeway they will give young Phil on the checking account is a matter for time to decide. They are upping his tax-money and crown-check dough, for sure, but I doubt if he will ever be enabled to wield the husbandly prerogative of screaming when the dressmaker's bill runs too tall. Fighting over finances is a fierce pleasure which will be denied them both, because they keep a tame fob in the lodge for the express purpose of riding herd on the grocery bills.

The common refuge of the momentarily disgruntled spouse is forever lost to Prince Philip. I mean, he can't go around saying she don't understand him, and maybe snapping a wink at one of the ladies in waiting, or they'll put him in the tower and take away his rubber boots.

He can't ever fall back on the stock weapon of the breadwinner, because he will know where the bacon comes from and the sorrowful fact that he isn't bringing it home. I doubt if he will be able to second-guess her very much on how she's steering the ship, either, because Liz has spent 21 years learning how to navigate a nation.

All the boy can do is remain silent, attentive and discreet, which is good advice for any young buck on the verge of life long bliss.

Gee! A telephone!

Not so many years ago, a telephone was still a curiosity. Few people had them. There was only a limited number of other telephones you could call.

But through the years, as more and more telephones have been installed, you've been able to reach more and more people... your telephone has been able to run more and more errands for you. Now, with still greater numbers of telephones being added, to take care of people waiting for service, its value is growing every day.

hind the congressmen's bench which they don't want the public to hear.

On the day screen-lover Robert Taylor testified, headline - conscious Chairman Parnell Thomas of New Jersey beckoned to him.

"Did you see the terrific job Menjou (actor Adolphe Menjou) did for us the other day?" Thomas w ispered.

Then he coached: "Go ahead and say just what you told us in Hollywood."

Later, when the photographers asked the handsome screen idol and the bulbous congressman to pose together and pretend to be talking, the New Jersey Republican snorted: "These photographers get crazier and crazier."

But as soon as the flash bulbs started popping, he beamed into the cameras and obligingly wagged his mouth. The public who see this newsreel shot will think Thomas is talking about something important. Actually he was repeating something about a friend with a broken leg.

However, Chairman Thomas is not the only congressman who pulls interesting backstage remarks.

The classical suggestion of Georgia's John Wood (made publicly) to pass a law authorizing employers to dismiss anyone whose views might be detrimental to the United States, caused G. O. P. Congressman John McDowell of Pennsylvania to whisper about his colleague:

"Did you hear the egg that Judge Wood laid? I'll tell you who would be even worse than Wood. That's if Rankin should get back."

Rootin'-tootin' Rankin, a member of the committee, has been campaigning for Bilbo's Senate seat in Mississippi.

Chilliest un-American reception was given to statuesque Paul McNutt, former governor of Indiana, high commissioner to the Philippines, and powerful counsel for the movie producers. McNutt walked up to the bench twice to plead for permission to let producer Sam Goldwyn testify. The first time, Thomas snapped: "It looks very doubtful."

The second time, Thomas just stood up and brusquely walked away.

-SENATOR BEHIND CURTAIN-

Back from an official snoop behind the iron curtain, Senator Carl Hatch of New Mexico reports that the Balkans are still pro-American whenever Russia turns its back. The bantam Democrat made a sweep through Poland, Czechoslovakia, Finland, Hungary, Rumania, and Bulgaria with a Senate-House committee.

"In those countries where the minority rules, the Communists maintain power only through the force of police and secret police," reported Hatch. "They do not have true Communism or Socialism. It is nothing but tyranny maintained by force."

"Those people live in constant fear. There is no such thing as liberty. The dignity of human rights has been destroyed."

Hatch says that opposition leaders in the countries visited contacted his congressional committee, usually in secret but sometimes in the open.

"It is pitiful how those oppressed people look to our country to help," declares the senator from New Mexico.

Old Gold was taught by Experience ...nearly 200 years of it!

Old Gold admits to plenty of wartime experience—including the American Revolution.

Back in 1760, we began learning fine tobaccos... blending, treating and handling them.

Now, nearly 200 years later, all that lore—plus modern scientific equipment—goes to making Old Gold the richest smoking treasure of all.

Could be you don't know what Old Gold offers. Maybe just routine keeps you on another brand.

Play hooky—JUST ONCE—and try Old Gold.

The experience might teach you far greater smoking pleasure, you know... Go on, try it!

For a TREAT instead of a TREATMENT... try an Old Gold

Munising Resident Going to Belgium

Munising—Phil VanLandschoot, who came from Belgium 41 years ago to "try his luck" in the New World, is going "home", but just for a visit. He is going to Gladstone today, to spend a day, and will leave Friday morning for Chicago. At 7 Friday night he will board a TWA plane, and some 18 hours later will step out of that cabin onto the soil of Paris, France. He is scheduled to fly from there to Brussels, Belgium, where a brother will meet him and escort him to Luk, in West Flanders, near the border of Holland.

Mr. VanLandschoot lived in Gladstone from 1906 until a few years ago, when he came to Munising. He has four brothers and four sisters in Luk, none of whom he has seen in 41 years. He expects to return to America next March.

DIES IN SPALDING

Munising—Mrs. Alsid Passinault and Mrs. Cecelia LeBeout were called to Spalding Sunday by the sudden death of their sister, Mrs. Emma Cota. Mr. Passinault accompanied them there.

BAZAAR AND SUPPER

Ernest E. Pratt's
Golden Wedding
Day November 2

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest E. Pratt, of 302 North 19th street, who have lived in Delta county for the past 37 years, will celebrate their golden wedding anniversary, on Sunday, Nov. 2.

Open house will be held at the home from one to five o'clock and in the evening a supper and anniversary party will be held for members of the family who are planning a reunion in honor of the day.

Mr. and Mrs. Pratt were born in Lower Michigan and were married at St. John's, Mr. Pratt, who is still active, is employed by the Solar Furniture company.

Their family includes seven children, Lawrence, Maurice, Derwood, Roscoe and Mrs. Velma Trudell, all of Escanaba; Mrs. Melvina Couillard, of Ford River Mills; and Everett Pratt of Lansing. They also have 31 grandchildren and 5 great grandchildren.

Mass Schedule
For All Saints'
Feast Announced

The religious festival, All Saints' Day, will be observed in the three Catholic churches of the city on Saturday, Nov. 1.

The schedule of services for the feast day, which is a holy day of obligation, and also for All Souls' Day, Monday, November 3, is as follows:

St. Joseph's—All Saints' Day masses at 6, 7, 9 and 12:10. All Souls' Day, masses beginning at 5:30 and continuing every half hour until 9 o'clock.

St. Ann's—All Saints' Day masses at St. Patrick's church at 7, 9 and 11 o'clock, and at St. Ann's chapel at 12 o'clock. All Souls' Day, masses in St. Ann's chapel, every half hour, beginning at 6:30 o'clock.

St. Patrick's—All Saints' Day masses at 5:30, 8 and 12:10 o'clock. All Souls' Day masses, beginning at 6:30 o'clock.

Social Situations

SITUATION: You are asked a question you would rather not answer.

WRONG WAY: Say, "I'd rather not answer that question."

RIGHT WAY: Try to avoid answering the question by sidestepping it, rather than by giving a flat refusal.

About Diamonds

Before the autumn bride shops for her engagement ring she'll know her stuff about diamonds if she understands that there is no such thing as a perfect diamond and a blue-white diamond has no blue in it.

The so-called "pure" diamond is colorless as water. Best way to examine "color"—body-color, that is, which is gained from the way that facets catch light—is to look at the diamond in a north light. Hold the diamond against a white paper or cloth.

Although there is no perfect diamond, a stone which shows no flaws to an expert eye under a 10-power magnifying glass is classified as such for commercial purposes.

Cost of a diamond depends upon weight, cut, color and clarity. A small diamond of clear color with minor blemishes will cost more than a larger stone that's cloudy and more flawed.

A diamond usually looks clearer and larger in a setting of palladium, platinum or white gold than in one of yellow gold. Palladium is as swank a choice of precious jewelry metal today as platinum. Yellow gold still has loyal adherents among those girls who are sticklers for the traditional metal.

Shorter Hours
For Men in Town
Governed by Women

AP Newsfeatures
Plaquemine, La.—This town is run by women.

The administrative offices of Plaquemine house Louisiana's only woman chief of police and a female town clerk who is mapping a campaign for mayor in the next election.

Chief of Police Mrs. Jules A. Hebert, who looks matronly and sweet and claims she is very hard-boiled, carries a silver-plated six-shooter, but most of her work as chief of police has been on the matter of wages and hours for her police force.

When she came into office there were four men on Plaquemine's police force, all working 12 hours a day, six days a week. She built the force into a six-man squad and gave them shorter hours.

Mrs. Hebert says her job is "lots of fun." "There aren't any real bad men around here," she declared, "only simple drunks, a few petty thieves and the ordinary speedsters."

"Those speedsters always think they can slip out of their fines by talking sweet and fast to the nice old woman chief," she laughs.

When anyone in Plaquemine draws a fine, he pays it, however. The town clerk is Mrs. Clydell DeJean, who "handles the finances of Plaquemine." In addition to her regular duties she seems to be every other town official's secretary.

She is planning to run for mayor in the next election and would have campaigned last election but she said she preferred not to run against her boss, Mayor

BRIDE IN DECEMBER—Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hsley, of Duluth, Minn., announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Elizabeth Alice, to Walter Wienckowski, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Wienckowski, of Bark River. The wedding will take place in Duluth on December 13.

Highland Closing
Social Thursday

The closing social of the season at the Highland golf club will be held Thursday evening at the club house. An informal program has been arranged for the affair and a buffet lunch will be served by the club.

EHS Masquerade
At School Gym
Friday Evening

Escanaba senior high school is holding a Halloween masquerade dance Friday evening in the high school gymnasium, in place of the customary Halloween carnival. Carnivals are being held in the Junior high school and in all grade buildings of the city.

Orange and black will form the color theme of the decorations for the party, with black cats, owls and other typical Halloween figures effectively arranged through the gymnasium.

The dance program will begin at 8 o'clock. Chet Marlier and his orchestra will play, and a feature of the evening will be a Halloween floor show.

There will be awards for the masquerade costumes.

Harold Sundelius is general chairman of the party. Joan Barron is in charge of the floor show and other committee chairmen are Betty Pearson, publicity; Warren Gustafson, tickets; Irene Steen, decorations; Jim Chapekis, refreshments; Jane Perrin, costume prizes; and Harold Pearson, clean-up.

Odds and ends of jelly melted and touched up with lemon juice make a grand pudding sauce.

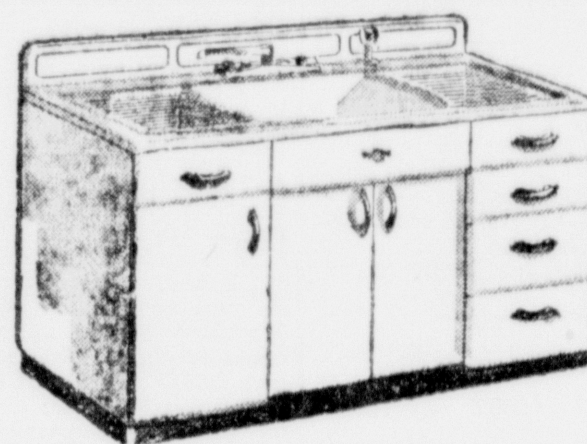

Something new and piquant for scrambled or fried eggs. Soak 1 1/2 teaspoons powdered rosemary in 1/4 cup butter or margarine for 15 minutes. Use for scrambling or frying eggs.

BROTHER BARES PONTIAC KILLING

Murder Of Youth After Gas Station Robbery Is Described

Pontiac, Mich., Oct. 29 (AP)—A brother's testimony naming George B. Coapman, 31, as the killer of 19-year-old Richard Schweitzer was in the record of Coapman's murder trial today.

Charles Coapman, 22-year-old brother of the defendant, described from the witness stand an argument on the night of May 10 between George and Schweitzer over possession of a German Luger pistol.

In direct testimony before Circuit Judge Frank L. Doty, the younger Coapman brother told the following story to assistant prosecutor Bernard Girard:

After a service station burglary in which George and Schweitzer, whose bodies were found last summer in an Oakland county bog, were reported to have taken part, the older Coapman brother asked Schweitzer if he would report the theft to police.

The youth first said he would not, but later changed his mind. With the words, "I think you're just the type of fellow that would tell," George struck Schweitzer in the mouth, picked up a lead pipe on the floor of the automobile in which the three were riding, and struck the younger man on the back of the neck with it.

Charles Coapman testified that he helped his brother drag Schweitzer from the rear seat of a car they had rented. He told the court that while the limp body lay in a swamp near Lonesome Lake, the older brother removed the belt Schweitzer was wearing and wound it around the youth's neck, holding it several minutes.

Oregon Governor In Missing Plane

Klamath Falls, Ore., Oct. 29 (AP)—Commander Hugh Tolley of the Klamath air search and rescue unit reported this morning that an air search has been started for a private plane which left here last night carrying Governor Earl S. Smith, Secretary of State Robert F. Bess, State Senator President Marshall Cornett, and Cliff Hogue, local pilot.

Tolley said the plane was scheduled to arrive late last night at Adel, in Lake county, where the party was going on a hunting trip at the Kittredge ranch, but failed to arrive.

The rescue unit dispatched seven planes early this morning and others were scheduled to leave immediately. Cloud conditions in the Lake county area were said to be very unfavorable for an air search.

The possibility the party may have gone to some other destination was considered, but it was understood Oscar Kittredge, joint owner of the plane with Cornett, drove from his ranch to the Coapman Lake landing area, a few miles away and waited for the party last night.

Wreckage Of Plane Lost Oct. 16 Found; Three Aboard Dead

Salisbury, N. C., Oct. 29 (AP)—The Salisbury radio control station of the state highway patrol reported today it had been notified by a highway patrolman stationed at Sylva that a private cargo plane missing almost two weeks on a flight from Charlotte had been discovered wrecked 45 miles southwest of Asheville, its three occupants dead.

The station operator quoted the patrolman as saying the plane bore the registration number NC-32834. Civil aeronautics officials in Charlotte said that was the number of the DC-3 plane that took off from Charlotte Thursday night, Oct. 16, with three Massachusetts men aboard, flying a load of baby chicks to Gainesville, Fla.

The plane was operated by Strato Freight, Inc., of Pittsfield, Mass. Aboard were Saul E. Kornish of Otis, Mass., pilot; Robert Piper of Pittsfield, formerly of Oswatimie, Kan., co-pilot; and Dwight Coulter of Pittsfield, a company executive.

Polish Communists Blame Hard Times On Fleeing Leader

Warsaw, Poland, Oct. 29 (AP)—The government-controlled press predicted today that Poland is headed for a long period of prosperity because Stanislaw Mikolajczyk, the lone voice of opposition to the Soviet-backed Warsaw regime, has gone away.

Commenting on the strange disappearance of Mikolajczyk, a member of parliament and head of the opposition Polish peasant party, the newspapers unanimously blamed him for everything wrong in Poland—from the drought to intolerable living conditions.

Bartender Denies Selling to Minors

Ray DeLoughery, employed as a bartender at the Granada Gardens, pleaded not guilty to a charge of selling beer to minors at his arraignment on the charge in justice court Tuesday afternoon. The case was continued for hearing until Wednesday afternoon.

In a normal year close to 69,000,000 pounds of wild rabbit are harvested in the United States.

NATION FACES SKIMPING TO FEED EUROPE

In discussing a possible new rationing program, Buck said he thinks it should be handled by the agriculture department and should be patterned after the coupon system in effect during the war.

MUST BALANCE BUDGET
Washington, Oct. 29 (AP)—Secretary of Treasury Snyder said today the United States should keep its budget balanced in providing any aid for Europe under the Marshall self-help recovery program.

Snyder said that not only would the like to see Congress provide revenues to cover any such aid costs, but also allow enough margin each year to apply something for reducing the national debt.

For these reasons, the treasury secretary said he is opposed to any change in present taxes until Congress decides how much aid can be provided without increasing tax revenues if necessary as well as cutting down aid requests.

Snyder told reporters that he is not proposing that costs of the plan necessarily be scaled down to keep in within available budgetary surpluses.

He said that he "wants revenue provided" to cover the costs of the aid—a statement that could be interpreted to mean increasing tax revenues if necessary as well as cutting down aid requests.

The 16 western European nations which would benefit from the Marshall plan have reported they will need $22,400,000,000 in aid for 1948 through 1951, with the U. S. supplying most of it. Aid requirement for next year alone was set at about $6,000,000,000.

Snyder emphasized that he meant a "balanced budget" for the entire time the Marshall plan aid is furnished, and not just for the current fiscal year in which the government is figuring on a surplus of $4,667,000,000.

Undersecretary of State Robert Lovett told his news conference that a series of major decisions regarding Marshall plan aid will be made by early next week. Lovett did not elaborate on what these decisions may be or what phase of the plan they may affect.

Secretary Marshall's return late today from the United Nations meeting in New York is expected to speed up these decisions, including fixing the amount of aid Congress may be expected to provide during the next year.

Beer Dealers Sued For $10,000; Lizard Sighted in Bottle

Los Angeles, Oct. 29 (AP)—Two married couples assert that ever since they mixed a drink known as a "Moscow Mule" their dreams have been troubled with visions of "Mules and lizards which leer at them from the necks of ginger beer bottles."

The foursome has no complaint about the Moscow Mule, as such, but in a suit filed in Superior court yesterday they contended that a very live "Lizard or Salamander" popped out of a ginger beer bottle while they were making the drinks with ginger beer, vodka and lime juice last Sept. 10.

All four claimed in the suit that they became violently nauseated and have been unable to sleep properly since. Mr. and Mrs. George Horsman and Mr. and Mrs. Marvin White, asking $10,000 damages, filed the action against the Coca-Cola Bottling Co., Inc., and Arrowhead Beverage Co., described as bottlers and distributors of the ginger beer.

State Land Sale Total Is $11,140

In the sale of state lands in Delta and three other Upper Peninsula counties held Tuesday in Escanaba, the bidding was brisk and the total sales revenue was $11,140, it was reported by Harold Gibbs, land executive of the conservation department.

The land sold in Delta county, including lots in the city of Escanaba, totaled $4,225; the land sales for Menominee county netted $4,235; for Schoolcraft $2,380 and for Luce $100.

All sales were made subject to the rights of the former owners to redeem at the highest bid price. Redemption must be made within a period of 30 days from the date of the sale. More than 100 persons attended the sale held in Escanaba city hall.

PARTY HOPES TO WIPE OUT 1946 SETBACK

Due late today after a morning session devoted to routine business and resolutions praising the Truman administration.

A big Philadelphia delegation headed by Republican Mayor Bernard Samuel arrived late yesterday. The group tossed a fancy buffet supper and cocktail party to advertise the Quaker city's campaign to be host to the Democrats as well as the Republicans.

It was purely business with them, members said. They planned to offer a $200,000 check for convention expenses, plus a guarantee of $50,000 for entertainment, television arrangements, and a free auditorium.

Mrs. Edward Heller, California national committeewoman, said she would try to match the Philadelphia bid for San Francisco, but added she was not campaigning in the same manner as the Pennsylvania city group.

Rain Clouds Move Eastward; Freeze Felt in Minnesota

(By The Associated Press)
Rain and cooler weather moved into the eastern section of the country today as skies began clearing over most parts of the Midwest.

The rain clouds moved from Ohio across Lake Erie into Pennsylvania, New York, Virginia and south New England states. Showers also were reported in parts of Montana and Utah.

No extremely cool weather was in the immediate future, federal forecasters in Chicago said, although temperatures which have climbed to above normal marks in the east the last several days, will begin to moderate today.

Hughes $25,000,000 Flying Boat Ready For Test On Water

Los Angeles, Oct. 29 (AP)—Engineers are making final tests preparatory to floating Howard Hughes' $25,000,000 flying boat from its drydock at Long Beach. Actually there are three drydocks, a large one around the huge hull and two smaller ones around the wing pontoons.

Associates of the millionaire plane builder said that yesterday the experts tested the inlet-outlet system for letting seawater into the drydocks and drawing it out again.

Taxi tests of the craft were planned for the period between Nov. 5 and 10 but might be changed because of the scheduled reopening in Washington Nov. 3 of the Senate War Investigating committee's inquiry into Hughes' $40,000,000 of plane contracts.

Whisky Shutdown Not Supported By Law, Judge Rules

Louisville, Ky., Oct. 29 (AP)—Reaction was awaited today to a ruling by Jefferson Circuit Judge W. Scott Miller that President Truman's Citizens Food committee does not have the authority to halt production of whisky to conserve grain to feed hungry Europeans.

The jurist ordered Heaven Hill Distilleries of Bardonia, Ky., to resume operations and to fulfill its contract to supply 179 barrels of current production whisky a day to Heaven Hill company of Los Angeles, a sales concern.

The company had gone to court to force production and delivery on the ground that the Citizens Food committee "is nothing more than a voluntary association without legal sanction or power" to stop whisky production. Its petition said it was being forced to breach contracts with its customers because of failure of the distillery to keep its contract with the sales firm.

Millard Cox, attorney for the Kentucky Distillers' association, said he believed that other distilleries in the same position would have to deliver whisky already promised or be sued for failure to meet their contracts.

In issuing his orders, Judge Miller said "If you can show me that the committee has any authority, I will set the ruling aside."

Will Of Wisconsin Woman Gives Kind Little Boy $10,000

Union Center, Wis., Oct. 29 (AP)—Rich dividends—$10,000—will be paid to seven year old Ronny Markee for his kindness to Mrs. Effie McNamara, the elderly neighbor woman for whom he ran errands.

Mrs. McNamara's will, filed in Vernon county court at Viroqua, yesterday, disclosed she divided her $22,000 estate in half, one share going to Ronny and the other to the caretaker at the McNamara home.

Ronny, the youngest of four children of Mr. and Mrs. Loe L. Markee, will receive his share within six to nine months, said Harry Jordan, attorney for the McNamara estate. He estimated it would amount to $10,000.

Mrs. McNamara at one time sought to adopt Ronny, Mrs. Markee said, but she was refused. Markee operates a sorghum mill.

'Cradle Of Storms' Faces Cub Pilots In Round World Hop

Adak, Alaska, Oct. 29 (AP)—The treacherous North Pacific crossing lay behind globe-girdling pilots Clifford Evans and George Truman and their tiny planes today, but the long Aleutian Island chain, the "Cradle of Storms" lay ahead.

The two former army fliers and their 100-horsepower planes landed at Shemya at 5:35 p. m., Pacific Standard time (8:35 p. m. E. S. T.) last night after a flight of 13 hours, 28 minutes from Nemuro airfield, on northeastern Hokkaido Island, Japan. The distance is about 1,500 miles. Shemya is 420 miles west of here.

The Trans-Pacific crossing was fair nearly all the way except for two and a half hours of rough weather, the fliers said.

They asked if they could talk with their wives in the United States and amateur radio operators who have kept in communication with them were asked to try and line up such a conversation.

The navy sent a PBY plane out from the Aleutians to meet the two planes and take over the escort from flying fortresses assigned to them in Japan by the Far Eastern Air Force.

Girl Scout Leaders Hear Miss Conant In First UP Assembly

The first annual Upper Peninsula Girl Scout leaders conference, held Tuesday in Ishpeming, was attended by more than 150 Girl Scout leaders in Upper Michigan, with representatives from Niagara, Wausau and Merrill, Wis., in addition. Eight Escanaba women attended.

The conference was addressed by Miss Edith Conant, assistant director of the Girl Scout program division, New York; and Mrs. Kirby Webster, advisor, Chicago.

Girl Scout leaders were warned by Miss Conant of the loss of a sense of values when an organization grows as rapidly as the Girl Scouts have and urged leaders not to place too much emphasis on machinery and superstructure of the organization.

The assistant program director urged leaders of Brownie troops to encourage and help this group of young girls develop a good understanding in intercultural relations. Too many of us develop an attitude whereby we are afraid to try anything new, stressed Miss Conant, who cautioned leaders to beware of this attitude.

Several new ventures in the Girl Scout program were discussed by Miss Conant. Among these were a city-wide or area conference for senior scouts, a girls' planning board and the raising of standards in the badge advancement program.

The work of both Girl Scouts and Boy Scouts in the Texas City disaster and in the recent forest fires in New England was discussed by Miss Conant. An explanation of the world scout conference at Camp Edith Massey in Pennsylvania was presented also. At the world conference, to be repeated in New York next year, were 97 girls of 25 different countries, representing every race and religion and nearly all nationalities. The value of the intercultural and international activities of Girl Scouts was emphasized by the speaker who reminded leaders that the German program which led to World War II was based on education in the wrong direction.

The conference was held in three panels, one each for Brownies, intermediates and senior scout leaders. Mrs. Kirby Webster, Miss Edith Conant and Mrs. Otto Hult were leaders of the groups.

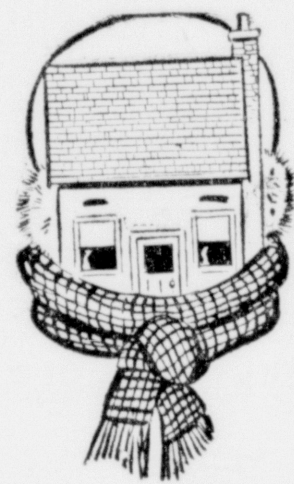

At the close of the meeting, Girl Scout leaders were invited by Marquette to hold the U. P. conference there next year.

Search Continues For Airliner Lost In Alaskan Storm

Ketchikan, Alaska, Oct. 29 (AP)—Pan American air and field crews took to the ground today to comb the southern sector of Annette Island in their three-day old search for a missing four-engine airliner and its 18 passengers and crewmen.

Inclement weather brought the aerial search to an almost complete halt yesterday but not before more than a score of planes had carried out a fruitless check of reported flares, smoke and strange objects.

Surface craft also participated in the search without success. Reports of wreckage on an Annette Island hillside, made by a coast guard cutter, was reported by Pan American to have been a large rock.

Blast Kills Man, Burns Up 16,000 Gallons of Fuel

Detroit, Oct. 29 (AP)—Fire officials probed today into the cause of a gasoline storage tank explosion that killed an oil company worker yesterday and destroyed 16,000 gallons of fuel in two tank cars.

It was believed that the blast might have been set off by a spark from a watchman's shanty near the Speedway Petroleum Corp. storage yard where the blast occurred. Officials also suggested it might have been the result of static electricity from the tank cars.

The victim, Ezell Potlow, 35, was burned to death as he tried to leap free of the explosion. He had been unloading one of the cars into underground storage tanks.

The roaring flames threatened at one time to spread to the tank beneath the surface but firemen from 22 oil companies battled them back to bring the blaze under control.

Another worker, 31-year-old Steve Nagy, had been with Pot-low on top of one of the cars, and shouted the fire alarm when he saw flames shooting out on the ground beside the car. "I just yelled fire and threw myself toward the safety trench," he reported. "Up on the tank car I saw Potlow leap as the tank car flamed in a big puff. The flames just reached out for him and he fell to the ground."

Potlow's body was recovered after the flames had been brought under control.

AID HOSPITALCooperation Of Residents
Asked In Making Of Quick Canvass

About sixty-five women expect to canvass the entire residential district of Manistique for the hospital fund drive on Friday morning, Oct. 31.

In order that this big job may be accomplished in a half day, the women need the co-operation of the residents and are asking that they be at home on that morning if at all possible and prepared to make their donation or pledge to the fund at that time if they have not already done so.

This will eliminate the necessity of second and third calls at some homes and will greatly reduce the time and effort required of these volunteer canvassers.

Mobile X-Ray Unit
At Triangle Park
Thursday, Friday

The purpose of the chest x-ray unit of the Michigan Department of Health was, obviously, well understood in Manistique. The first day about three hundred x-rays were taken.

Thursday and Friday the unit will be at the Information Center, in Triangle park near the post office. Thursday hours will be from one to four o'clock and from five to eight. Friday hours will be from nine in the morning to noon and from one to four in the afternoon.

Zion Lutheran
Plans Memorial
Services Sunday

The first Sunday in November of every year is Memorial Day in the Lutheran churches of the Augustana Synod when members of that body gather to honor their departed dead. The day is known as All Saints Sunday.

At Zion Lutheran church here such a memorial service will be held Sunday at 10:30 a. m., honoring the following departed members of the past year: Mrs. Anna E. Carlson, Ewald L. Nelson, Mrs. Wilhelmina Settergren, Miss Lillie A. Carlson, Mrs. Gertrude Halsey, Mrs. Anna L. Carlson, Otto Hood, Mrs. Mathilda Larson, Rev. G. A. Herbert will give the memorial message on the theme, "Saint and Sinner" and the senior choir under the direction of Miss June Christensen will sing. Mrs. Harry Ahlstrom will officiate at the organ.

THEFTS BRING
RETRIBUTIONParents Warned They Must Cooperate
With The Law

Retribution caught up with 18 youngsters ranging in age from 12 to 16 when they appeared, from time to time before Juvenile Judge Ralph Merwin, to plead guilty to taking property belonging to the Hewitt Grocery Company. The pilferings, it was disclosed, were small—mostly candy, cigarettes or cigarette lighters—but in the eyes of the law they were serious offenses and the boys were well aware of this when Judge Merwin was through.

All of the boys promised to make restitution for what they did. Fifteen of the boys were placed on probation for six months; two others were placed on probation for three months and one lad who had been in trouble before and had been paroled from the Boys Vocational School at Lansing, was returned there.

Judge Merwin gave the boys and their parents to understand that it was within the discretion of the court to send all of the boys to a detention school, and in some of the cases where the boys were of age coming under justice court jurisdiction, he could have turned them over to courts where justice is apt to be more severe. He stated that he was lenient, however, because these boys were first offenders. He gave the boys to understand, however, that what happened to the lad who was sent away, would happen to any other of them who chose to take their probation too lightly.

There was also stern admonition for the parents. There are not enough police officers, peace officers and court justices and judges in Manistique to keep boys here from getting into trouble, said Judge Merwin. The welfare and guidance of our young people depends almost entirely upon the parents. The authorities must have the cooperation of the parents if we are to cope successfully with the problems affecting children in this community he added.

Mrs. James V. Casey left for her home in Chicago after attending the funeral of Tom Mellon.

Mrs. Henry Gauthier left Wednesday for Grand Rapids where she will attend a Moms convention on Thursday and Friday.

LIONS TO HEAR
TALK ON M.T.A.Director Will Discuss Rehabilitation Of The Tuberculous

Roy Manty, director of the Patient Services Department of the Michigan Tuberculosis Association, will address the Gladstone Lions club at their regular meeting here Thursday evening at the Yacht club.

Director Manty will speak on the subject: "Rehabilitation of the Tuberculous in Michigan" in which he will give a brief description of the association, a general report on the problems of the tuberculous, a description of the in-sanatorium program of Patient Services, cooperative agreements with official agencies and finally the part the community must play if we are to meet the problems of the tuberculous.

The dinner will be at 6:45 o'clock.

Plans Progress For Welfare Club Party

Plans are progressing for the opening fall party of the Child's Welfare club which is to be held in the high school gymnasium on the evening of Tuesday, November 4.

Card contests will form the main diversion and there will be a short entertainment now being arranged by Wallace C. Cameron. Lunch will be served.

The event is the first of a series to be held during the year, all of which are designed to raise funds for the Welfare club milk fund.

Advance ticket sale for the event will be conducted.

On the committee in charge are the Mmes and Messrs W. C. Cameron, G. E. Dehlin, L. N. Empson, Milton Findlay, G. W. Jackson, E. C. Olson, B. H. Skellenger, Leo Weingartner and H. G. Westcott, Dr. and Mrs. A. H. Kimmond, Dr. and Mrs. A. H. Miller, the Mmes E. A. Christie, C. B. Fitzpatrick and Myron Goodman and the Misses Mabel Larson, Margaret Schenk and Elsie Swenson.

Girl Scouts of the Lincoln school fifth and sixth grades met Monday afternoon in the school with Mrs. Harvey McLaughlin as their leader. The following officers were elected: Phyllis Pasino president; Arthlene Ann Fudala, vice president; Donna Patz, secretary; and Arlene Anderson, treasurer. It was also voted to pay five cents a week dues and to meet every Monday at 4 o'clock in the school.

Former Members Of
C-G Reserve May Go
On Inactive Status

Former temporary members of the Coast Guard Reserve may be re-enrolled in the Coast Guard on an inactive unassigned status, according to word received here by Douglas A. Mathison.

Only those persons specifically requesting reenrollment will be accepted, and reenrollment will be at the highest rank of rating held including the advancement awarded upon termination of prior enrollment. Only persons honorably separated from service will be accepted. There are no physical requirements.

No active duty for this class of personnel is planned or authorized. No funds or personnel are available for administration of the program and consequently no pay, clothing allowance or other allowances are authorized. No training is contemplated or authorized.

Decision to allow reenrollment of former members comes as the result of requests made by former members to maintain closer affiliation with the Coast Guard. The letter to Mr. Mathison indicated the number of sincere requests had influenced the Commandant in his decision.

ROTARY CLUB
HOLDS FORUMSuggestions For Program
Of C-C Sought By President

Suggestions or ideas which might be incorporated into a Chamber of Commerce program were requested by Joe Poffenberger of Rotarians at their weekly luncheon meeting at the Yacht club Monday noon. Poffenberger said directors of the C-C are endeavoring to formulate a program which is to be turned over to Joseph VanArman upon his arrival in Gladstone to assume charge of the chamber as secretary-manager.

Adequate handling of the juvenile problem was suggested by one member while another thought the C-C directors might pursue the post-war planning survey and obtain some concrete ideas. One thought revival of the hotel proposal was in order but on a different and modified plan, while still another was of the opinion that industrial development was of importance and once a reality the hotel would follow.

Another pointed to the expansion which necessarily follows industrial development and said he did not believe it desirable at present as there are many improvements which can yet be made with the city at its present size.

Adequate housing was indicated as of prime importance regardless of other development. In view of the adverse report received on the small harbor improvement proposal for the south shore, a member suggested construction of an eastern causeway from Butler's island to a street in the northern part of the town declaring that area enclosed would provide an excellent harbor for hundreds of small craft.

Harvey Gaines of Menasha was a guest at the meeting.

Gladstone Braves Gird For Eskymo Grid Clash

Gladstone, Oct. 29 — Injuries sustained by Capt. David LeGault, star halfback and sparkplug of the Gladstone high school eleven, in the Stephenson game last Friday dampened hopes for another undefeated season but yesterday it was reported that the injuries were responding to treatment and if the improvement continues he may be back in school today and rejoin the team this afternoon for practice.

The Braves wind up the season Saturday against the Eskymos at Escanaba.

Thus far this season they have scored six victories to stretch their victory string to 21 without defeat. The only blot on this year's season was the 13-13 tie with Munising.

TICKETS HERE

Yesterday morning two hundred reserved seat tickets for the game were placed on sale at the DeWitt Drug store but were gone the first hour. Eighty more were immediately procured and these also went. Edward Edick, principal of the Escanaba senior high school, said yesterday afternoon he was arranging for a block of 100 more and these will be on hand today.

Manistique Cage Loop Organized; Meet Again Nov. 6

Manistique, Oct. 29 — The Manistique city basketball league is organized for the coming season.

Nov. 18 is the deadline for filing team rosters, the team entry fee is $10 and Tuesday and Thursday nights will be set aside for practice, it was determined at the league's organization meeting.

Replacing a president and vice-president, a league manager will operate this season with the assistance of a board of directors composed of team managers. In other respects, it was determined, the group will follow the same policies as in the past.

Addie Boyd was the unanimous choice for manager. Directors will be appointed by sponsors not later than Nov. 18.

The next regular meeting of the league will be Nov. 6, at which time the schedule will be drawn. Team entries filed to date are the Power Mill, No-Names, K-Cs and probable entries are Hub, Barnes hotel, Cooks and the Fords.

HE ASKED FOR IT

Los Angeles, Oct. 29 (AP)—World welterweight Champion Sugar Ray Robinson of New York toyed through six rounds of a scheduled 10-round non-title fight with California Jackie Wilson last night and then, after the referee asked for more activity, unleashed some dynamite in the seventh and won by a technical knockout.

"It Seems To Me"

BY JIM WARD

With one ear tuned to the coming clash between Escanaba and Gladstone elevens, here are a few pertinent quotes and facts:

Dave Walsh, the Eskymos' most outstanding lineman, and Warren Gustafson, defensive fullback, who did a yeoman's job backing up the line in Escanaba's fine showing against the powerful Marinette eleven, came out of the fracas with sprained ankles.

You can tab that as a bear story if you like, but it happened in the first half of the Marine battle and Walsh and Gustafson weren't quite the same the rest of the way. Walsh twisted the same ankle he sprained in scrimmage last week.

Jim Erickson and Don Christensen came in for a measure of praise from Coach George Ruwisch for their showing at tackle, pinballing for the injured Walsh and Ted Gardner. Big Gardner's loss hurt, however.

Dick Johnson performed commendably at center, also. With Bob Anderson and Steve Beggs injured, Johnson began learning the job at the first practice session after the Iron Mountain game, and he came through like a trouper against Marinette.

"I think the whole team played well against Marinette," Ruwisch said. "It did me as much or more good to see them fight and come through the way they did against Marinette, holding them scoreless the first half as it did winning championships in the past."

Ruwisch commended the line for its work against Marinette, but in the same breath he added that it would have to fight just as hard against Gladstone. If the Eskymos are to close the season with a triumph something which they are all gunning for.

"I'm trying to put together a team for the Escanaba game next Saturday," Coach Eldon Keil, Gladstone mentor, said yesterday, possibly with tongue in cheek. "Those Eskymos have plenty of power, and they're apt to explode against us."

Keil went on to say it was tough playing a schedule like Gladstone's and then coming up against a team like Escanaba. In other words, he has plenty of respect for the Eskymos as an able Class B team, and the Gladstone Braves are a bangup Class C team — but still a Class C team.

That could possibly be interpreted as a bear story, also. Coach Keil has a good argument there, but the fact remains that Gladstone has played 21 games without a defeat. That is nothing to be tucked away quietly.

Keil modestly attributes the success of the Gladstone team in recent seasons to the fact that a couple of capable performers like Cliff Gillis and Dave LeGault broke in as freshmen four years ago and have given him a healthy nucleus with which to work each season since. Both are seniors now and enjoying their best seasons.

With Ken Lessard and Doug Madden, they form one of the best little backfields in the Upper Peninsula.

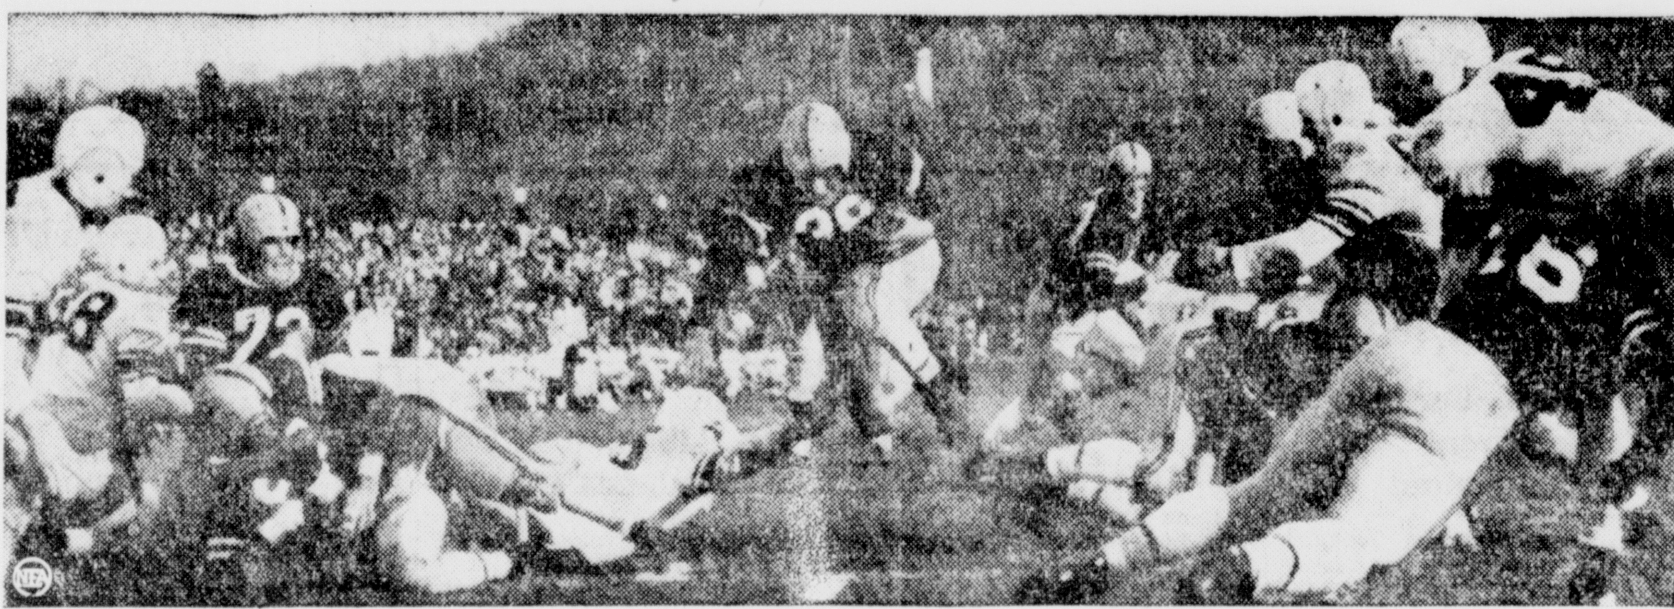

Gillis, undoubtedly would have been one of the finest ends in Upper Peninsula football if it had been possible to leave him in that position. But, as is often true on small school elevens, a good player must be used where his effectiveness will be the greatest.

Hence, Gillis has been in the backfield the last two seasons. And three years ago, he was one of the finest ends in the U. P. Gillis has done well in the backfield. No doubt about that. But at end, he was a natural.

This is a Gladstone banner year, and the Braves intend to end it with a triumph. Nine Gladstone starters will be seniors. Only juniors among the Braves regulars are Lessard, right half; Skoglund, right end, and Beaudry, right tackle.

Probable senior starters in the Escanaba lineup will be Walsh, Bob Judson, Ronald Johnson and Ernie Belanger. Other seniors out with injuries are Gardner and Bob Anderson. Anderson likely will see some action, but Gardner, stricken with appendicitis, is hospitalized—a really tough break for a graduating football player.

No matter how you try to figure this game, it shapes up as a battle royal from start to finish. Both teams will be out to give everything they have to win this one. Each has its own incentives, but all point toward one thing—a win next Saturday.

BIG ENOUGH FOR A TRUCK—A wagon could be driven through the hole opened for Arnold Green as the Brown fullback scores standing up in the third quarter of the 13-13 tie with Colgate at Hamilton, N. Y. Not a hand is laid on him as halfback Loren Rodwig throws a key block on Bauman right.

Godoy, Louis Challenger, Is Still Breathing

By Hugh Fullerton, Jr.

New York, Oct. 29 (AP)—If there's any extensive debate at the winter baseball meetings this year, it probably will be over the privilege of spending too much money . . . although Red Trautman, boss of minor league baseball says the new bonus rule "has worked out very well." Southern Association club owners and Herb Pennock of the Phillies have come out against it . . . according to Trautman, "it has eliminated in a measure at least the wild orgy of spending, where spending was the result of enthusiasm rather than judgment."

It all goes back to a situation that the late W. G. Bramham tried in vain to clear up . . . minor league "independents" usually can't afford to pay big bonuses, but they're likely to be swept away by enthusiasm. The "chain" operators can afford such payments, especially when the top clubs are making money and the dough would go for taxes, anyway, but they like the general idea of a ceiling. Their objection now is that they can't farm out a bonus player for seasoning . . . as for the player, most folks agree with Judge Landis' theory that he's entitled to all the dough he can squeeze out of the owners.

Frank McGuire, new basketball coach at St. John's U. (Brooklyn) is a guy who quickly catches on to the requirements of his job . . . when he heard that Georgetown's Elmer Ripley was undergoing further treatment for his ailing leg, McGuire remarked: "He's going to have a good basketball team this year. That ought to cure him."

Baylor and Texas A. and M. are cooking up a new football feud over the Aggies' failure to provide a phone from the press box to the Baylor bench last Saturday. Seems the press box spotter saw Aggies cooking up a "sleeper" play, which went for 40 yards, and he couldn't do a thing about it . . . the National Baseball Hall of Fame already has drawn more than 36,500 visitors this year . . . Ben Martin, who scouts Notre Dame for Navy, says the protection the Irish give Johnny Lujack on passes is so good that Johnny's uniform hasn't even been cleaned this season. It doesn't even get grass stained . . . Martin also reports that George Connor is Notre Dame's best lineman.

Reports reaching this dept. from usually well informed sources say that Auburn alumni tried to buy Carl Voyles' contract last winter and he turned them down. Also that Jack Meagher the guy, the grads want, is slated to become Iowa head coach . . . and from California comes word that Arturo Godoy is dead serious in saying he wants another shot at Joe Louis' heavyweight title. If he gets it, he's likely to be dead, period . . . John Q. Public, a horse scheduled to run at Gulfstream Park this winter, once was claimed for $17,500 . . . that's the only time racing folks ever figured "John Q. Public" was worth even two bits.

Weisenburger And Chappuis Are Cause For Illinois Worry

Chicago, Oct. 29 (AP)—Illinois will be up against the Big Nine conference's finest blend of running and passing when the defending champions tangle with Michigan Saturday.

The tale of the tape today shows that the Wolverines Bob Chappuis with a .714 aerial percentage, and ball-carrier Jack Weisenburger, who has averaged an eight yard gain in 21 attempts, are well up among the statistical leaders.

Illinois' Perry Moss figures to be the most dangerous man standing between Michigan and victory. The signal-caller has completed 30 passes in 46 tries in three Big Nine games for 362 yards and four touchdowns. His completion percentage is .652.

Chappuis, who has been used only sparingly in two league encounters, has hit on 10 out of 14 tries for 161 and one touchdown. Weisenburger, powerful fullback and a key in Fritz Crisler's attack, has peeled off 172 net yards in 21 trips with the ball.

The Big Nine's rushing leader, based on yards gained, is Purdue's Harry Szulborski, who has rammed 231 for a 5.7 average. Indiana's George Talaferro is second with 224 and a 4.7 average; Northwestern's Art Mura-

Hats off to Roy Johnson who became the first bowler to join the select circle by tossing a neat 258 last week to pace his Corbets Corner teammates to a three-game sweep over the Granada Gardens. His other games were 201 and 175 for a total of 634. Nice pitching!

The Women's honor roll has five candidates, led by Ruth Sawyer with two fine games of 235 and 206. Ruth is the daughter of Carl Sawyer, the leader of bowling in this section for many years. The September issue of "Bowling" magazine carries an interesting article about Mr. Sawyer concerning his recent appointment to the executive board of the ABC. Last year he served as director and president of the Wisconsin State Bowling Association. Congratulations and a hearty handshake from all local players on the fine work you have done to further the sport in this territory.

FROM THE PIT . . . It appears Eino Kangas has profited from his pin-setting experience as evidenced by his games of 242, 219, and 202 rolled in the boys league. Eino must have learned what not to do. Need another pin-boy Harry?

Joe Orlando, anchor man for Larson Brothers, got a big hand the other night when he picked up the 4-6-7-10 split. We all get em, Joe, but more power to you when you make a spare out of them.

Via the grapevine, we just received word that Harry Gafner has now returned to form. Last night he fashioned a nice total of 623 on games of 237, 207, and 179. Glad to hear it Harry.

We sincerely hope that the first edition of this column has met with your approval and would welcome any interesting news item you wish to offer.

How To Get A 3-Way Tie In Big Nine

Chicago, Oct. 29 (AP)—An Illinois victory over Michigan Saturday in a game rated as just about a toss-up would bring prospects of a three-way tie for the Big Nine and a headache for conference faculty members who must select a Rose Bowl representative.

Pending Saturday's outcomes, Illinois, Michigan and Purdue — a team ranked at the bottom of the pile in preseason reckoning — could become shareholders of the championship without stretching the imagination too far.

One provision of the five-year contract signed by the Big Nine and Pacific Coast conference last year prohibits Rose Bowl appearance of a league member more than once in three years, regardless if it is the champion. Illinois won the title last year and flattened U. C. L. A. 45-14 New Year's Day.

It was argued originally that this stipulation might conceivably rob the Illinois of some of their zest on the gridiron this fall inasmuch as the Pasadena trip incentive would be lacking. On the other hand the incentive would burn strongly in such a gang as Michigan and become a pep-talk factor in boiling the Wolverines up to charge through to (1) the title; (2) their first chance in the Rose Bowl since hurry-up Yost's 1902 team walloped Stanford 49-0 in the inaugural of the classic and (3) the mythical national championship currently held by Notre Dame.

The Illini, however, are just as anxious to repeat for the Big Nine diadem—Rose Bowl or not—as Michigan is to jostle them aside.

Purdue enters the picture because it upset Illinois 14-7 last week while Michigan remained undefeated by edging Minnesota 13-6.

The underrated boiler-makers, clicking under their new coach, Stu Holcomb, ex-Army assistant, are in the enviable position of not having the Wolverines on their schedule. Already with triumphs over Ohio State and Illinois, after losing their opener to Wisconsin, they face Iowa Saturday, then Minnesota and Indiana.

After Michigan, Illinois meets Ohio State and Northwestern. The Wolverines have Indiana, Wisconsin and Ohio State on tap.

kowski is third with 201 and a 4 yard average. Weisenburger is fourth, but he has compiled his figures in only two Big Nine contests. His rivals have played three.

Wolverines, Spartans To Win---It Sez Here

Chicago, Oct. 29 (AP)—Striking again while the prognosticating poker is hot:

(Last week, the crystal gazer pulled Purdue and Northwestern out of his turban)

Michigan 21, Illinois 14—The Illini will rebound from their lapse at Lafayette, but they'll meet an equally-determined Wolverine eleven which suffered something of a "moral defeat" in its 13-6 squeeze past Minnesota. Fritz Crisler's crew discovered against the Gophers it was only human after cleaning the street with Michigan State, Stanford, Pittsburgh and Northwestern. Bob Chappuis can match the passing accuracy of Perry Moss and the Wolverines have more team speed than the Illini.

Wisconsin 18, Northwestern 7—The Badgers apparently found their second wind after that 48-7 shellacking by California three weeks ago. The Wildcats will be a lot tougher than Yale or Marquette, but they've shown an inclination to be spotty due mainly to injuries. Northwestern's win over Indiana was strictly a gift.

Notre Dame 28, Navy 7—It's increasingly obvious that the Irish intend to shadow box right up to the Army game. The Middles provide the final tune-up before the Cadets march into South Bend on Nov. 8, but the pattern probably will be the same as the Irish executed against their four victims to date—play it safe and play it sure.

Indiana 14, Ohio State 6—The Hoosiers who are still seeking their first conference win have the best defensive record in the conference. They may come out again with a scatter-shot attack, but it should be enough to spank the befuddled Buckeyes.

Iowa 19, Purdue 14—This is the week's blue plate special. The Boiler-makers justifiably will be a little cocky after tripping Illinois, which had whipped the Hawkeyes, 35-12, but look for Eddie Anderson's boys from the tall corn state to pull a cutie.

Minnesota 20, Pitt 7—The older the season, the tougher Bernie Bierman's Gophers. Pitt wasn't any more cheered by its surprise win over Ohio State than Minnesota by its brilliant, if losing stand against Michigan. The Gophers uncovered an all-America candidate in end Bud Grant, who like nine other Minnesota regulars has three seasons left to play.

Michigan State 13, Marquette 7—Even the loss of star halfback George Guerre won't keep the Spartans from getting back in winning stride after their 7-6 loss to strong Kentucky.

Reserved Seats For Gladstone-Escanaba Game

A block of 400 reserved seats has been set aside for the Escanaba-Gladstone high school football game here next Saturday afternoon, Edward Edick, Escanaba high school principal, announced yesterday. Adults may procure reserved seat tickets by calling at the senior high school.

Spartan Trek to Honolulu Cause For Celebration

East Lansing, Oct. 29 (AP)—The appearance of Michigan State's football team against the University of Hawaii Nov. 29 in Honolulu will be heralded by an all-out celebration in the mid-Pacific Islands, MSC officials said today.

The date will be declared "Michigan Day" on the islands and one complete section of the stadium has been set aside as a Spartan cheering session for all persons from Michigan planning to attend.

Added color for the game will be provided by the Punahou school in Honolulu which is assigning its 65-piece band to the Spartans, complete with majorities and cheer leaders. The Hawaiians already are learning MSC songs for the occasion.

Michigan State alumni are planning a Thanksgiving day dinner for the team at the Royal Hawaiian hotel and a reception and dance will follow the game. The Spartans will make the trip in two Pacific clipper planes and will spend five days at the islands.

Capacity Crowds Await Blackhawks, New York Rangers

(By The Associated Press)

Despite their lowly position, the Chicago Blackhawks and the New York Rangers are assured of playing before sellout throngs tonight when they stage their initial home games of the 1947-48 National Hockey League season.

Upwards of 17,000 fans will be on hand at Chicago Stadium to watch the Hawks, who have failed to win a game in four starts, take on Detroit's scrappy Red Wings.

Around 15,000 will witness the fifth place Rangers inaugurate their 22nd home season at Madison Square Garden with the Boston Bruins providing the opposition.

Both the Hawks and Rangers are still busily attempting to strengthen their forces.

Yesterday, President Bill Tobin of the Hawks offered the defending Stanley Cup Champion Toronto Maple Leafs $55,000 for the services of defenseman Bob Goldham, Elwyn Morris and Center Gus Bodnar. The trio is playing for the Leafs' Pittsburgh farm in the American League.

The Leafs, who entertain the Montreal Canadiens tonight, had offered the Hawks five players for Max Bentley, 1946-47 scoring champion, but were turned down.

John Paul Quick Fractures His Arm

Manistique, Oct. 29—John Paul Quick, one of the main standbys in the Manistique Emerald football team, fractured his left wrist while playing the final game of the season at Marquette last Saturday. Contrary to a previous report, he was not in the motor mishap near Rapid River early Saturday morning in which a car carrying several local high school students, left the road and was badly wrecked.

Don't Worry About Michigan Archers Riling Up The Deer

By JAMES A. O. CROWE
Lansing, Oct. 29 (AP)—Deer hunters who plan to go out after their buck Nov. 15 are unnecessarily concerned if they are worrying about archers "riling up" the deer.

This from I. H. Bartlett, conservation department deer expert. Bartlett just returned from a tour of the areas of greatest concentration of archers around Lewiston, St. Helen and Grayling.

"Even there," he said, "there are so few archers in the woods you can't find them."

In all other areas in the lower peninsula and in the entire upper peninsula, the rest of the estimated 9,000 archers are so widely dispersed in Michigan's millions of acres of hunting land as to have a negligible effect on frightening the deer and making them more elusive for the rifle-carrying brethren.

The estimated total number of archers is more than double last year's contingent, and in addition, the archers are permitted to shoot deer of any age or sex in 17 counties.

But nevertheless, they have only brought down an estimated 60 animals since the season opened Oct. 1.

Meanwhile, prospects for a good deer season as contrasted to a poor small game season, showed no signs of abating.

The record deer population, estimated at around a million animals was well dispersed over the whole deer country.

Early indications are that there will be less hunters than last year's 350,000. Estimates range down to 300,000. The poor small game season, however, may send that estimate up a little, however, as those who didn't get the hunting instinct out of their system may take out after deer.

Bartlett indicated deer hunting will be good no matter where a hunter sets up camp in the deer country.

Even in the areas in and around Oscoda county where stag-uation deaths among deer were heavy last winter, the population is rated only "slightly down" and hunters should have little more trouble than last year in getting their limit.

Everywhere else, reports of conservation officers on their observations of deer indicate that there are at least as many as last year and in many places more than ever.

Across the whole upper peninsula, the concentration is at record levels, and in the northwest-ern part of the lower peninsula, the population has doubled in many places.

Newly Patented Process Extracts Sulfur From Ore

Washington—Sulfur, that daemonic element that takes part directly or indirectly in practically every modern industrial operation, is extracted from certain types of its ores by a new process on which U. S. patent 2,429,477 has just been issued here to Arthur B. Menefee of Cumberland, Md., and Herbert H. Greger of this city.

The process, which is conducted at a temperature above the melting-point of sulphur, consists essentially in adding a liquid which will not wet the sulphur but which will wet the gangue, or stony mineral part of the ore, and cause it to form little lumps or pellets from which the liquid sulphur will then drain. Sulfuric acid of 98 percent concentration is the preferred liquid, but phosphoric acid, calcium chloride or other common chemicals may be used. A very pure grade of sulphur, free of objectionable coloring matter, is produced by this process, the inventors claim.

OHIO 'SEAPORT' ENDS BIG YEAR

Prospects Even Better For 1948 In Great Lakes Shipping

Cleveland, Oct. 29. (AP)—This Ohio "seaport" is winding up its busiest season of foreign trade.

And prospects are that next season will be far better for at least three reasons:

(1) All four foreign lines using the local port will have additional ships in operation.

(2) The western European countries sending cargoes here will have progressed farther along the road of post-war industrial recovery.

(3) A saving to exporting Ohio industries—estimated by agents of the foreign shipping lines to be 10 to 15 per cent over the cost of shipping by rail to the eastern seaboard—should be even larger next year because of the recent 10 per cent rail freight rate boost.

Since the Dutch freighter Prins Maurits arrived April 29, vessels from Norway, Sweden, Holland and England have discharged large cargoes here.

Although imports have not reached 1939's high level, exports to Europe from lake cities have soared to thousands of tons worth millions of dollars as midwestern industry fills war-produced shortages abroad.

The four foreign lines with vessels calling at Cleveland are the Fjell Line of Norway, the Oranje Line of Holland and the Swedish American and Swedish Chicago Lines of Sweden. Fjell ships also call at London.

Fjell will have four new ships in the trade next spring, bringing its total of lake-trading vessels to 10. Swedish American has just chartered a vessel to help finish out this season and will add two new vessels next season. The Swedish Chicago Line, new to the lakes trade last spring, brought

Tax Diversion Fund Of $7,242,870 to Be Paid Out By State

Lansing, Mich., (AP)—Michigan cities, villages and townships soon will receive $7,242,874 as their share of the sales tax diversion money for the first quarter of the fiscal year, while the school districts will receive an equal amount by Nov. 1.

Auditor General Muriel K. Aten disclosed he was forwarding the municipal allocations to county treasurers today for distribution to subordinate units at the rate of $1.38 per capita.

Dr. Eugene B. Elliott, state superintendent of public instruction, said the school payments would be at the rate of $5.19 per census child.

Elliott reported schools to date have received $22,775,197 from the sales tax diversion or $16.28 per census child. The computation covers only that part of the diversion amendment which gives schools one-sixth of sales tax collections.

He estimated that in the 12 month period ending December 1, the school districts will have benefited $27,575,197 from the diversion amendment, not counting state aid appropriation, or about $19.78 per child.

That figure included an estimated $4,800,000 for the final two months of the 12-month period.

"Rented the first day" said Smith
